

War Clouds are Dissipated as Japan, China Agree to Confer

Tokio Official Says Japan Ready to Con- sider Proposals

AGREEMENT AIED

Nanking Government Expected to Approve Local Accord

Tokio —(AP)— Japan rapidly returned to normal today as a general belief grew that war with China had been averted and a lasting settlement of the long existing differences between the two countries was near.

A foreign office spokesman declared Japan was ready to consider any proposal from the Chinese government to open negotiations for a settlement of the fundamental Sino-Japanese issues and would respond to any change in the Chinese foreign policy.

Although there has been no official announcement, it is widely accepted that the North China crisis which brought China and Japan to the verge of war over control of the rich region around Peiping had passed.

The bareness of the margin that kept the July 7 clash between their troops west of Peiping from spreading into open war was believed to have brought China and Japan to the conference table for a calm and diplomatic solution of their deep-rooted animosities.

Needs Nanking's O. K.

Tokio will insist on retaining the present method of working through the Hsueh-Chang political council for a full cleanup of the present trouble by local authorities. The real agreement will come, however, when the Nanking government, shortly after the plan is worked out, endorses this local agreement and gives it force.

The war office published today the terms of the truce agreement reached by Japanese military officials and local Chinese authorities Monday.

It calls for punishment of persons "impeding" Sino-Japanese relations, complete suppression of communists, more strict control of anti-Japanese organizations and education, and evacuation of the anti-Japanese 37th division of the Chinese 29th army from the trouble area.

Chinese Withdrawing

Chinese troops were reported from Peiping to have already started evacuating the city as well as the area to the west in which the fighting has been severest under an agreement providing for withdrawal of troops of both nations in varying degrees.

Nanking had insisted no such local settlement could be recognized but the Domei (Japanese) news agency reported the Chinese central government had now agreed to the local settlement. Officials said this would remove the most dangerous source of friction.

Newspapers called for the government to send one of Japan's most prominent diplomats to Nanking to negotiate a permanent settlement.

Accuse Deaf Mute Girl Of Attack Upon Matron

Dubuque, Iowa —(AP)— Aurelia Matzek of Elkhorh, Wis., the 16-year-old deaf mute girl who leaped 90 feet off the Eagle Point bridge here Wednesday afternoon in a vain attempt to escape arrest, was back in a jail cell today after police said she attacked Mrs. Florence Lemper, police matron, with a knife last night. The matron escaped with a slight scratch.

Police Chief John Gielis said he would confer with the county attorney on the filing of charges in connection with the attack. The girl previously had been allowed the run of the matron's quarters pending the arrival of authorities from Elkhorh, where she was to return her to her home today.

Police Chief Gielis said the attack followed the writing of a "threatening note" to the matron by the deaf mute girl.

Is Your Clock Still Daylight Raving?

Gentlemen whose workday clops at 6 p. m. will note that there is no more Daylight Shaving after office hours 'til next summer. Meanwhile the farmers, whose Daylight Shaving starts in the dark at about 8 a. m., are glad to see the clocks telling the truth once again. We can camouflage the clocks, but not the time, nor, for that matter, The Post-Crescent classified want-ads hence their popularity. This one proved itself reliable.

Shells Again Strike Madrid As Armies Fight to Control Area West of Besieged City

SAYS HUSBAND DEAD

Mrs. Stella Crater (above), wife of the late Joseph Crater who disappeared mysteriously seven years ago, expressed the opinion for the first time that the New York Supreme court justice "must be dead" in an interview at her Belgrade Lakes, Maine, home. As New York police offered to re-open investigation of the case, Mrs. Crater's attorney said he would seek $20,000 insurance carried by the justice.

Gas and Beverage Tax Receipts are Sharply Higher

Increase Totals Nearly $1- 500,000 for First 6-Month Period

Madison —(AP)— State Treasurer Sol Levitan today reported increases totaling nearly $1,500,000 in the gasoline and beverage tax receipts for the first six months of this year as compared with the first half of 1936.

His report came in the wake of an announcement yesterday from the state income tax division showing a jump of 65 per cent in normal income tax collections for the first half of this year, which were $9,033,916, compared with $5,478,035 in the first six months of last year.

The gasoline tax receipts from Jan. 1 to June 30 totaled $8,931,835. The figure for the same period last year was $7,886,365.

Liquor and malt beverage tax revenues showed an increase of $394,387 over last year. Liquor taxes totaled $1,854,301, a rise of more than $290,000 from the $1,564,146 collected in the first half of 1936. Malt beverage levies were $1,033,020, up nearly $105,000 from the $948,788 figure for the same period last year.

Many Shocks Hit Alaskan Region

Quake Disturbances Strike District From Fairbanks To Anchorage

Fairbanks, Alaska —(AP)— Alaskans displayed jaunty indifference today to the greatest earthquake disturbance ever recorded within the territory.

For nine hours yesterday many shocks, four of them severe, occurred over the interior from Fairbanks, 300 miles south, to Anchorage.

Utility companies, banks and business offices carried on business as usual. Only the liquor store failed to operate. The earth shocks rattled bottles off shelves and broke them.

Telephone lines broken during the first shocks were hastily repaired. Total damage was estimated at a maximum of $5,000, mostly to the liquor store stock.

An unconfirmed report said several houses were demolished and one person injured when a giant earth slide swept across 2,000 feet of the Richardson highway.

Predicts Long Term for 'Scottsboro Case' Negro

Decatur, Ala. —(AP)— Samuel S. Leibowitz, chief of "Scottsboro" defense counsel, predicted today conviction for Charles Weems who is on trial as one of nine Negroes accused of attacking two white women.

"I don't expect an acquittal," Leibowitz told the jury in his closing argument. "I don't expect a long term of years. If Melvin Hutson (one of the prosecuting attorneys) will ask for 50 years, the verdict will be 99 or something like that."

Andy Wright, another Negro defendant, was given 99 years earlier this week although the state asked a sentence equivalent to life and mentioned 50 to 70 years.

Madrid —(AP)— Twice shelled within 24 hours and with at least 15 killed and a score injured by the insurgents' big guns, Madrid was abruptly thrown back today to the grimness of a bitter siege.

After two weeks of comparative calm while a tornado of offensive and counter-offensive raged over the hills and plains some 15 miles to the west, Madrid was jolted into sharp realization that a besieging army was still at her gates.

After a long artillery duel last night, confined to the outskirts of the capital, shells started dropping in Alcalá street and Cibeles square. The second bombardment, broadening the scenes of death and destruction, came this morning when several hundred shells plowed into the central parts of the capital along Gran via, Madrid's "Broadway," and in the Chamberi section near the United States embassy.

The government guns pumped a thundering reply.

Over 60 slain and wounded yesterday at Madrid and two small towns in central Spain took more than 60 lives and brought injuries to more than 150 persons.

Insurgents in the Brunete sector, tip of government General Jose Miaja's salient west of Madrid, still were trying to push back the government forces, but on the western flank Miaja's militiamen reported to have cut further into insurgent territory.

The insurgent navy, in both the Mediterranean on the east and the bay of Biscay on the north, attempted to cut off government supplies.

Dispatches from Santander, a Biscayan port of the government, said the insurgent cruiser Almirante Cervera fired on the British ship MacGregor as it left Sanlúcar with 2,000 refugees. It was said to have ceased fire when a British naval patrol appeared.

Vessels Bombed

Government planes bombed the Almirante Cervera, the minelayer Jupiter and several armed trawlers off Gijón, another government port on the bay of Biscay, the reports said.

The government was said to have stiffened resistance to the insurgent's Teruel offensive, 100 miles east of Madrid, while west of Villanueva de la Canada, in the center of the Madrid front line, insurgent infantrymen were thrust back across the Perales river. Miaja's troops brushed their foe out of positions dominating the eastern bank of the small stream in an assault yesterday.

'Treason' Charges Up at Convention

U. M. W. Board Moves for Trial of Green for Alleged 'Treason'

Washington —(AP)— The United Mine Workers' International board referred today to the union's next convention charges that William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, was guilty of "treason" against the U. M. W.

A trial before the convention, the board said, "will eliminate any thought of prejudice" against the A. F. of L. fight the committee for industrial organization, headed by John L. Lewis, U. M. W. president.

Informed of the board's action, Green said:

"I am of the opinion that I could not comment on that action now. My decision on this question will be determined by the nature of any notice I receive."

Green has been a member of the mine union since it was organized in 1890.

The board, in explaining its decision, recalled that Green had refused last November to appear before the board to answer the treason charges. At that time the board ordered Green to "cease and desist" from engaging in what it called "traitorous" practices.

"Feeling that if the decision were against him in this court, he would exercise his right of appeal to an international convention, and in order to facilitate hearings and disposition of the charges, the international executive board waives its jurisdictional right to try him on these charges and the board decides that the 'cease and desist' orders together with the charges for violation of . . . the international constitution shall be referred to the next international convention," the board's statement said.

Hitch-Hiker Denies He Is Guilty in Shooting

La Crosse —(AP)— Joseph L. Williams, 28, hitch-hiker from New Orleans, La., was in county jail here Friday after being unable to furnish bail of $10,000 ordered after his plea of not guilty in the shooting and wounding of Clarence Voves, 41, in La Crosse Thursday morning.

He was charged with being armed with a dangerous weapon and assaulting Voves with intent to commit murder. Williams insisted he was innocent to shoot Voves, who had offered him a ride, made improper advances.

Voves, whose condition was declared to be improved Friday noon, has not been questioned by police or the district attorney since Williams was caught and told his story.

Testimony Is Assailed at Ford Hearing

Labor Relations Board At- torneys Challenge Re- porter's Story

RULING WITHHELD

Company Lawyer Objects To Introduction of Testimony

Detroit —(AP)— Attorneys for the national labor relations board cross-examined a Ford Motor company witness today sought to contradict his testimony he was with Harry Bennett, Ford personnel director, for more than three hours on the day union organizers were beaten at Ford's Dearborn plant.

Arthur Ogle, Detroit News reporter, told Trial Examiner John T. Lindsay yesterday he was with Bennett until 3 p. m. and returned to the News office about 4 o'clock on May 26. A government witness earlier had testified he heard Bennett call "good work, boys" after the riot to two men he said participated in the fighting.

A NLRB complaint charging the Ford company with unfair labor practices alleges the company instigated "brutal and malicious" assaults May 26 on United Automobile Workers members trying to distribute union literature outside the Dearborn plant.

Ogle testified he drove back to the News office with David J. Wilkie, chief of the Detroit Associated Press bureau.

Shows A. P. Story

Christopher Hoey, board attorney, showed Ogle an Associated Press story, dated 3:44 p. m. and signed with Wilkie's initials, indicating it was written after Wilkie reached his office in the News building.

Another piece of Associated Press copy, dated 2:50 p. m. and quoting a telephone conversation with Bennett, also was shown by Hoey, who said it was the government's contention Ogle and Wilkie had left Bennett before that time. This story was written by R. P. Hubbard.

Ogle was testified Bennett received only two telephone calls during the time he and Wilkie were with the personnel director, and Hoey contended that had Hubbard telephoned during that time, Bennett would have informed Wilkie.

Louis J. Colombo, chief Ford counsel, objected to introduction of the testimony and Lindsay withheld a ruling on it.

Edward T. Edmundson, photographer employed by the Ford company, identified several photographs of property near the scene of the May 26 fighting, but Lindsay would not permit him to identify the property as belonging to the company.

Cooler Weather Seen For Midwest Region

Chicago —(AP)— Relief from July's second heat wave was forecast today for the simmering middle west. The heat onslaught, rolling eastward, boosted temperatures to above the upper nineties but forecasters said rains and shifting winds would bring cooler weather from western Canadian provinces. Thunder showers were predicted for a large portion of the midwest.

At Washington, the census bureau attributed an increase in deaths during the week ended July 17 to the major's first heat wave. Deaths in 86 major cities, a bureau report said, were up 16 per cent over the previous week with Atlantic seaboard cities showing the largest increases.

For the second consecutive day, Metcalf, S. D., basked in a 105-degree temperature. Huron and Aberdeen, S. D., saw the mercury pass the 100 mark. It was 103 in Huron and 101 in Aberdeen.

Mother and 4 Children Found Dead in Arizona

Flagstaff, Ariz. —(AP)— A mother and her four children were found dead today and a coroner's jury reported she strangled and stabbed them and then shot herself.

The body of the mother, wife of James Walup, chairman of the county board of supervisors, was discovered near a golf course. Bodies of the children, aged 2 to 10, were in their beds at home.

Dr. M. G. Fronske said Mrs. Walup had been in ill health.

Relics Indicate Winnebago Indians Once Had Village at Lake Winneconne

Oshkosh —(AP)— Arthur P. Kanneberg, archaeologist at the Oshkosh Public Museum, disclosed yesterday he had discovered historical relics which indicate an ancient Winnebago Indian village once flourished near the shores of Lake Winneconne, a short distance from here.

Kanneberg said the village probably existed around 1600.

George West, president of the Milwaukee Museum board, characterized Kanneberg's discoveries as "the finest Indian culture yet found in Wisconsin."

West, who visited the 100-acre plot where Kanneberg has spent weeks in digging, said "with the possible exception of Aztalan, this is the most interesting archeological spot in the state. Already the excavations have shown that the

British Divorce Laws Liberalized After Long Fight

London —(AP)— A 25-year fight to liberalize Britain's divorce laws ended today with parliamentary enactment of a law whereby cruelty, desertion for three years, or insanity for five years become grounds for divorce.

The measure is effective Jan. 1, 1938.

Adultery hitherto was the only cause for divorce in Britain.

Commons gave final approval to the law, drafted by A. P. Herbert, independent, by accepting house of lords amendments.

Royal assent, given automatically, is the remaining formality for putting the law into effect.

Parker Estate Is Valued at Over Million in Will

Document Is Filed for Pro- bate in County Court At Janesville

Janesville —(AP)— The estate of the late George S. Parker, 73, pioneer Janesville pen manufacturer, was valued at more than $1,000,000 in his will, filed for probate today in county court.

Parker family members were bequeathed the bulk of the estate, the greater portion of which will be held in trust. Mrs. Parker is to be the general trustee.

Gifts of Parker Pen Co. stock, valued at $44,000 at present market prices, were made to relatives, friends and employees, and $10,000 was given to the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. to be divided equally between the organizations and payable upon Mrs. Parker's death.

Cash bequests of $50,000 were made to his son, Kenneth, president of the Parker firm, and his daughter, Mrs. Virginia Bate of Ottawa, Canada. The will provided $5,000 for Mrs. Kenneth Parker and $500 for Mrs. Eleanor Parker Jeffries, widow of another son.

The stock bequests: 200 shares to the Trinity Episcopal church; 500 shares to Jane Watrous, 100 shares each to Helen Morrissey, office manager, and to John McLaughlin, plant superintendent; 25 shares to Clarence Glenn; 100 shares to Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Bolles; 100 to Miss Leola Parker and 100 to Miss Alene Bernier.

The will also set aside 500 shares of stock, the income of which is to be used for support of a room at Mercy hospital for the care of Parker company employees earning less than $100 a month.

The will was drawn June 19, just a month before Parker died in a Chicago hospital. At the time of his death he was chairman of the board of directors of the firm he and the late W. F. Palmer founded in 1891.

Former Accountant Assailed at Hearing

Madison —(AP)— Frederic Sammond, attorney for the Wisconsin Telephone company, delivered an attack upon Cyrus G. Hill, former chief accountant for the public service commission, in oral arguments before the commission on the telephone rate reduction case today.

Pay-Hour Bill Up Next Week In U. S. Senate

Measure to be Pushed for Vote This Session Of Congress

ADJOURNMENT IS AIM

Leaders to Confer With Roosevelt on 'Must' Legislation

Washington —(AP)— Leaders placed the administration's wage and hour bill today at the top of a congressional program that may be curtailed by early adjournment.

Majority Leader Barkley said the senate would debate the measure next week.

As modified by the labor committee, it would let a board fix minimum wages up to 40 cents an hour and a maximum work week of not less than 40 hours. Products made by children under 16 would be banned in interstate commerce.

The house labor committee has yet to approve a wage and hour bill. Influential members, however, predicted the house would enact one before adjournment.

Aside from that proposal and the substitute bill to speed up lower federal courts, the program was indefinite. Leaders expect to canvass the legislative situation with President Roosevelt to learn which measures he wants considered.

May Adjourn In August

After that conference, they may set a tentative date for adjournment. The consensus of several prominent legislators was that congress would quit between Aug. 7 and 15.

This, they agreed, might mean deferring until next year other administration proposals, such as government reorganization and crop control.

Others predicted approval of only one phase of the reorganization program—creation of six $10,000-a-year assistants for the president.

Neither house nor senate committee has done anything with the crop control and "ever-normal granary" program advocated by Secretary Wallace. Members of the house committee said it would take them at least a month to get it in shape.

Some members of the senate committee, however, said a powerful campaign for its passage was developing "back home."

The senate may take up the Wagner bill after voting on the wage and hour measure.

Anning Prall Dies Of Heart Disease

U. S. Communication Com- mission Chief Succumbs At Summer Home

Boothbay Harbor, Maine —(AP)— Anning S. Prall, federal communications commission chairman, died at his summer home here today. His physician said Prall succumbed to heart disease.

On Tuesday, W. Mortimer Prall announced his father, 66-year-old former New York representative in congress, was "greatly improved."

Prall was stricken more than a week ago with an illness the nature of which was not disclosed. He was a resident of West, New Brighton, Staten Island, N. Y.

Prall, born on Staten Island, was educated in the New York public schools, and later rose to the post of president of the New York City Board of Education.

He was appointed a commissioner of taxes and assessments of New York city on Jan. 1, 1922. Then he was elected to congress and served from the sixty-eighth to the seventy-second congress, representing the Eleventh New York district.

Washington —(AP)— Carl I. Wheat of California and Hampton Gary of Texas were discussed today in informal quarters as possible appointees to the communications commission.

The death of Communications Chairman Anning S. Prall at Boothbay Harbor, Maine, this morning, created a second vacancy in the commission's membership. Vice Chairman Irvin Stewart resigned recently to affiliate with the National Research council.

Income Tax Returns are Open to Congressmen

Washington —(AP)— The congressional tax investigating committee agreed today to allow any members desiring to do so to examine the income tax returns of James Roosevelt, the president's son, or Secretary Morgenthau.

Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.) told reporters Representative Treadwell (R-Mass.) had made the return of Roosevelt and Morgenthau be submitted to the committee.

He said the committee voted that any returns called for by any member should be sent to the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation, where any member might scrutinize them. They would not be made public, he added.

Representative (R-N. Y.) had suggested that the committee examine the returns of Roosevelt and Morgenthau with a view to determining whether they made use of personal holding companies for tax avoidance.

Bitter Primary Battle Forecast In New York City

Tammany's Stand Now Makes New Deal Major Issue in Campaign

New York —(AP)— Tammany hall's endorsement of United States Senator Royal S. Copeland for mayor over dapper Grover A. Whalen, nominee for Democratic organization in the four boroughs outside Manhattan, today forecast one of the bitterest primary battles in New York city's political history.

A campaign with the New Deal as a paramount issue was assured when supporters of ailing chief James J. Dooley, backing Copeland, overrode Whalen adherents by a vote of 15-11-2 to 8-5-12 after two hours of acrimonious debate behind locked doors in the historic wigwam.

Whalen, world's fair head and a vigorous New Dealer, has the support of Democratic leaders in Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond boroughs who are friendly to Postmaster General James A. Farley, Copeland, supported by former Governor Alfred E. Smith, has opposed many Roosevelt administration measures, including the late court bill.

Burt Stand, secretary to Tammany, said that Smith, informed by

The accident took place as the boys were returning along the highway after taking lunch to members of their family who were working in a nearby pea canning factory.

Three other children, Veronica Endres, 18, Alice Rehme, 13, and Shirley Rader, 6, walking along the highway were brushed from the pavement and injured slightly by the car struck the Shea boys.

Aubol is being held without charge pending investigation by Sheriff Norman Berkefeld and an inquest called by Coroner Gerald Rau.

Some of Original Ob- jectives Achieved, Spokesman Asserts

PRESIDENT SILENT

Feels Tribunal Altered Attitude as Result Of Fight

Washington —(AP)— A high administration official said today that despite the senate's emphatic rejection of supreme court enlargement, President Roosevelt felt some of his original objectives for court reorganization had been achieved.

This was coupled with a hint that the chief executive believed a more complete and permanent attainment of his goals would require court legislation beyond that which the senators who virtually killed his court bill have been willing to accept.

Court bill opponents, forcing the measure to be sent back to the senate judiciary committee yesterday, agreed to certain procedural changes in the lower courts. They won agreement from administration senators, however, that there would be no change in the supreme court. Enlargement of the supreme court had been a principal point of what administration leaders called the president's judicial reform program.

Roosevelt Won't Comment

At his regular Friday press conference, the president declined to comment on the senate's action yesterday. He appeared smiling and in good humor. He parried a question as to whether he contemplated further campaigning for his court program by saying he has not done any campaigning.

The spokesman indicated the president felt that as a result of his fight for changes in the supreme court membership, the tribunal had altered somewhat its attitude toward important principles involved in several pieces of major legislation.

He said that before the president submitted his court bill on February 5 the senate had held the agricultural adjustment act unconstitutional but afterward it upheld the social security act. He recalled also that the court had upheld the Wagner labor act and the Washington minimum wage law also. Another gain, this spokesman said, was that the country had been made court conscious and constitution-minded.

Burke Sees President

Possibly indicating a conciliatory attitude between the two factions in the court bill fight was the fact that Senator Burke (D-Neb.), a leader of the opposition, called upon the president during the morning.

Later Burke said he was "glad to have discussed with the president what the judiciary committee is starting to do to accomplish as many objectives outlined by the president as is possible under the limitations now imposed."

"It was a friendly and very interesting conference," Burke added.

The judiciary committee set about its work by forming an eight-man subcommittee to draft the new reform bill applying only to the lower courts. The committee unanimously agreed to expand the measure, if possible, to include regulation of bankruptcy and receivership fees.

Report by Thursday

Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) was named to head the subcommittee, which Chairman Ashurst (D-Ariz.) said he hoped would submit a preliminary report by next Thursday. Others named were: Dieterich (D-Ill.); McGill (D-Kans.); Connally (D-Texas); Van Nuys (D-Ind.).

Barbara Stanwyck Is Mistaken for Autograph Hunter

Hollywood —(AP)— Barbara Stanwyck, mistaken for an autograph hunter, got "the works" from a policeman—and was rescued by Robert Taylor—after the preview of her newest film last night.

An old hat pulled down on her head and her coat collar flipped up, the actress was not recognized by the officer who shoved back autograph hunters swarming around Taylor, her escort.

Miss Stanwyck attempted to follow the actor.

"No, you don't," commanded the officer, forcibly putting her into reverse.

Once safely through the mob, Taylor found it was a strange young woman who had hold of his coat tail. He rushed out again.

Miss Stanwyck sat weeping on the curb, rigorously guarded by the law.

"I'm going to sock you if you don't let her go," threatened Taylor. By this time, the officer had discovered his mistake.

The Goldenwyn press department chief, Jack Lawrence, said Miss Stanwyck suffered bruises on her arms and shoulders for which she received a physician's treatment.

The additional outlay for hospitalization and burials totaled $380.52 last month as compared with $470.39 in June of last year, and $1,031.51 in May this year.

Agreement Puts End To Strike at Oshkosh

Oshkosh — (U) — Striking employees of the Foster-Lothman woodworking plant voted today, 195 to 14, to accept terms settling a labor dispute which was in its twelfth week.

It was the last of the Oshkosh woodworkers' plant strikes to end and officials said production would be resumed as rapidly as possible.

Strikers were members of the Millmen's Local 1363, an A. F. of L. affiliate.

Terms included minimum hour wages of 45 cents for machine hands and 40 cents for men classified in the lowest working bracket; a 7 cent an hour increase for those not included in the latter group; union recognition, and a 45-hour work week.

The Wisconsin Match Co. dispute is the only remaining strike in Oshkosh.

Hiking Curtailed as Hot Weather Hits Scout Camp

Gardner Dam — The hottest day of the period hit Gardner Dam Boy Scout camp Wednesday. The camp staff obligingly curtailed any strenuous hiking program, confining most of the camp activity to the camp area.

Horses were the attraction for the remaining group of campers who had not done any riding to date. Riding in the woods and along the trails throughout the Gardner Dam reservation has proved to be a real sport.

A large group of scouts tried their luck on the river using all types of fishing equipment and bait. Ed Maxwell and Don Duprey seemed to find the hot hole and returned to camp with three bass.

With the weather going as warm as it did the water had an overflow in attendance and the senior Red Cross staff of Bill Spalding, Bob Schroeder, Bill Heckrodt and Harold Williams were kept busy keeping a check on the swimmers.

Beginners' Class

The beginners' class has a good attendance every morning and the instructors have been complimenting Herman Bushman on his progress and expect to move him in the swimmers division at the end of the week.

A heated baseball game occupied the campers' time after supper and after much razing and rooting the group from the first mess hall were declared the victors of a 5 to 3 game. Tom McCarthy acted as captain of one team while Jim Miller did the directing of the group from camp two.

Following the ball game the campers gathered around the lodge and decided that because of the threatening weather and possible rain storm, that a game of "Capture the Flag" should take the place of the moonlight hike.

The campers were divided into two groups and assigned to their respective areas and for an hour and ten minutes they attempted to capture their opponent's flag without being caught themselves.

Declared No Contest

After several efforts the flags were moved by the opponent's to ward their respective goals, but neither team was able to move their prizes over into their own territory, so the game was declared no contest and it was decided to run it the next evening to determine a winner.

A noisy group of campers scattered to their cabins after the contest and it was half hour after dismissal before the camp had quieted down.

Many of the campers were thinking of the activities of the coming days including the track meet, the hike to the Mead Fishing camp, and the other high spots remaining on the Paul Bunyan week schedule.

TRAXLER SAYS 'I'M TOO TOUGH TO KILL'

Roy "Pete" Traxler, southwest badman and escaped Texas convict, snarled "I ain't going to die. I'm too tough for these coppers" after he had been shot and captured near Hugo, Okla. Traxler's companion, Fred Tindol, was killed by two farmers who they were holding as hostages. A blood transfusion was administered by Dr. J. P. Devine (left) in an effort to save the convict's life.

Guardsmen Return Home Early Saturday Morning

Camp Douglas — Wednesday morning work was very interesting and instructive. We went out to the foot of Chinaman Butte (one of the large rock formations) and worked our way back behind camp. We were given instruction in anti-aircraft work and also took up formations to be used in fighting the mechanized forces. The Browning machine gun that we use is one of the most effective weapons when used to fight aircraft and this same gun is also effective when used against mechanized forces. These new

300,000 Witness Burial Procession At Marconi Rites

Famed Inventor Buried Near Scene of Earliest Experiments

Bologna, Italy — (U) — Guglielmo Marconi came home in death today and his body was laid to rest near the scene of his earliest experiments in wireless telegraphy.

Three hundred thousand persons lined the streets to witness the solemn passage of the funeral procession to St. Petronius cathedral and then to the Marconi family vault at a fourteenth century monastery just outside Bologna.

Marconi died early Tuesday in Rome at the age of 63.

Squadrons of airplanes—symbol of the fascist state Marconi's science helped build—roared in salute over the hearse.

After the interment, Marquis Luigi Solari, president of the Marconi company and for many years a close collaborator of the inventor, read over the radio a speech Marconi had written and was to have read at the inauguration of the new radio station at Bologna.

Fourth "Defeat"

"I confess," Marconi had written, "that when 42 years ago I succeeded in making the first radio transmission at Pontecchio, I foresaw the possibility of sending electric waves to great distances, but I did not hope of being able to obtain the great satisfaction which is being accorded to me today."

In fact a major defect then was attributed to my invention—that of possible interception of messages transmitted. This defect preoccupied me so much that for many years my principal researches were dedicated to its elimination.

"Nevertheless, this 'defect' was utilized after about 30 years and has become radio—that means of reception which daily reaches more than 40,000,000 listeners."

Marconi's fortune was estimated by some to be $25,000,000 and was bequeathed to his widow and four children.

See Farm Program On Special Call For Legislature

Handrich Sees Governor Including This Item For Session

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison — Governor LaFollette will include a farm program in his call for the much discussed special session of the legislature, Alvin A. Handrich of Manawa, Progressive Waupaca county assemblyman, said here Thursday.

Handrich said he did not know the nature of the program which the governor is considering, but predicted that the governor would include in his call for the special session a complete program for Wisconsin agriculture, which farm leaders say the administration neglected during the recently adjourned regular legislature.

Under the law, the governor when he wishes to call a special session must specify the subjects to be considered in that session. Farm organizations, particularly the Wisconsin Cooperative Milk Pool, feel that their program was ignored during the recent session.

The Manawa representative, who came to Madison to learn about the date and the business of the special session, predicted that it will be called for later than August 2. The governor has not yet notified legislators of his intentions, he pointed out, and it is usual for the chief executive to do so ten days before the legislature convenes.

In capital circles it is generally believed that the governor has decided on August 2 for the special meeting.

Plant 4,000,000 Fish in Waters About Waupaca

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau Madison — Intensive operations on Waupaca county waters this season has resulted in the planting of almost 4,000,000 fish of seven different species, while more will be planted later this summer, the conservation department reported here yesterday.

Center of stocking efforts in the northeastern Wisconsin area this season was Waupaca county, which has more lakes and streams than any other in the area, it was pointed out. The chain of lakes and the streams in the county have received totals as follows: muskellunge, 181,750; wall eyed pike, 2,652,600; perch, 250,000; northern pike 37,500; black bass, 6,000; brook trout, 9,625; and brown trout, 313,500.

There has been little planting in Brown county, while the figures for Outagamie county are not yet available, it was said. Outagamie county has been stocked with muskellunge, wall eyed pike, bass and lake trout, and more will be planted in that region later, according to Deputy Warden Ernest Swift, and wall eyed pike, northern pike and black bass have been planted in Winnebago county.

County to Oil Roads Near Cheese Factories

Dust around cheese factories in Outagamie county will be eliminated under a road oiling program to be launched in the near future by the county highway department, according to F. R. Appleton, county highway commissioner.

Under a new state law effective July 7 roads passing cheese factories must be oiled for 200 feet, 100 feet on each side of the factory. The work will be coupled with the present county road oiling program and will be done in those sections of the county where the oiling equipment is in use, Commissioner Appleton said.

The commissioner conferred with J. P. Hayes, assistant engineer of maintenance at Madison, today on the work and lists of the cheese factories in the county now are being prepared.

Change Meeting Date Of Highway Committee

Postponement of a highway committee meeting of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce from Tuesday afternoon to 4:30 Wednesday afternoon at the chamber office was announced today. J. J. Plank will report on the proposed rerouting of Super-Highway 41, west of the city, by the state highway commission.

Truck Drivers' Strike at Coal Yards Continues

No Change in Situation Reported by Union Heads, Dealers

No change in the strike situation involving about 40 truck drivers of coal dealers in the city was reported today. The strike was started yesterday by the drivers as members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America. At Neenah and Menasha, where a similar strike was called yesterday, picketing was started at four construction jobs.

The truckers are seeking union recognition, according to Harold Douglas, business agent for the union, and they later expect to arbitrate wages and hours.

The four jobs being picketed in the Twin Cities by truckers are at the new Menasha High school building, Marathon Paper mill, Whiting Paper mill and Lakeview mill. Several trucks were turned back by pickets, but one truck hauling material for a WPA sidewalk construction job at a grade school on E. Forest avenue, Neenah, returned with a police escort. No trouble was experienced.

John C. Engler, union business agent in Neenah and Menasha, said the truckers want their employers to sign contracts for a uniform wage scale. About 40 truckers are on strike in Neenah and Menasha.

Restaurant Strike Sympathizers Will Face Cover Charge

Milwaukee —(P)— Strike sympathizers, affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization, who tied up tables at the Majestic restaurant yesterday with some new sit-down strike technique — a noon hour lunch sit-down lunch — will be greeted with a cover charge if they attempt it again.

That decision was reached by I. E. Goldberg, counsel for the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union (A. F. L.).

Members of the United Catering Workers' Union (C. I. O.) are on strike while A. F. of L. members are proclaiming the restaurant "fair to organized labor."

The strike sympathizers brought their own lunch Thursday, ordering coffee or milk from the management. They remained the entire noon-hour, making it necessary to turn away many of the regular patrons.

Goldberg said the management has established a cover charge of $1 for every 15 minutes of sitting time over the ordinary 15 to 20 minutes required for lunch. At the same time a charge of 40 cents will be made when a customer confines his order only to a beverage without ordering additional lunch.

Milk Price Boost Seen in Chicago

Increase Is Result of Raise in Amount to be Paid Producers

Chicago —(P)— An increase in the retail price of milk in the Chicago area was forecast today by the announcement by John P. Case, general manager of the Pure Milk association that an agreement had been reached with Chicago dealers assuring a higher price to the farmer.

The new agreement called for an increase of 25 cents per hundred pounds at the farm. Producers have been receiving $1.93 per hundred for a grade A fluid milk.

It further provided, Case said, that the price at the farm shall not drop below $2.15 per hundred or exceed $2.35.

Paul Potter, a spokesman for the dealers, said milk prices in the Chicago area would probably be boosted one cent a quart on Aug. 1, when the new contracts become effective.

The Pure Milk association claims a membership of 14,500 dairy farmers in Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin.

The producers' demands for higher prices, Case said, were based on steady advances in the butter, cheese and condensory markets.

He said higher feed costs and higher wages for competent farm labor were also responsible.

Members Referendum Proposed for Guild

New York —(P)— The American Newspaper Guild said today its international executive committee will meet Saturday to consider a membership referendum on the guild's recent affiliation with the C. I. O.

Guild headquarters said a motion opposing affiliation, initiated by the Columbus (Ohio) unit, had gained enough second to make a referendum automatic if the committee finds the motion in proper order.

Sixteen units in other cities also seconded in whole or in part the Columbus unit's objections to admittance of office workers to the guild and the guild convention's endorsement of the Spanish loyalists, independent political action, a large WPA appropriation and President Roosevelt's supreme court program.

Favors "Sub-Capitol" For Straits Territory

Lansing, Mich. —(P)— Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, appointed George Gilbert, of Gwynn, as the education department's upper peninsula representative Thursday, and predicted that future years would see the establishment of a "sub-capitol" above the straits.

Elliott pointed out that the department of state, sales tax department and liquor control commission all have upper peninsula representatives.

He suggested that "something in the nature of a sub-capitol" to permit grouping of these departments should be evolved "in the interests of efficiency and public convenience."

Duffy to Go Abroad As Court Fight Ends

Washington —(P)— The end of the court bill battle will enable three senators to sail next week to dedicate American battle monuments in France.

The trio—Senators Duffy (D-Wis.), Russell (D-Ga.) and Gibson (R-Vt.)—had abandoned the free trip because both sides in the judiciary fight wanted every possible vote.

After the bill was recommitted yesterday, however, they decided to make the journey.

Continue Efforts To Settle Strike

Jefferson —(P)— A conference on settlement of the creamery package manufacturing company labor dispute at Ft. Atkinson, which failed to bring an agreement late yesterday, continued today under direction of the state labor board.

Parties to the dispute are the CIO Automobile Workers' union, which has been on strike since May, and the company and a Ft. Atkinson Law and Order League. The union complained the company refused to bargain with it, and that the law and order league was engaged in activities unfair to organized labor.

The special event planned for next Wednesday, July 28, is a "Baby Show" for children up to four years of age, and a "style show" for youngsters over four. Each Wednesday during the past month has seen a special parade or races at the playground. About 75 children attend the playground activities each afternoon, with a slightly smaller attendance during the morning hours.

Roosevelt Sees Gains as Court Plan Is Defeated

O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.); Borah (R-Ida.); and Austin (R-Vt.)

Six of the eight subcommittee members were opposed to the president's plan.

McCarren called the subcommittee to begin work tomorrow.

The administration spokesman who discussed the president's attitude toward the week's climactic developments in the court bill fight said that it was up to congress to decide whether reasonable general legislation was to be enacted or the country was to be allowed to return to the uncontrolled economic situation of 1929. There was no indication whether the administration would make an effort to get additional legislation at this session.

Reviews Reform Efforts

The spokesman reviewed what he termed judicial reform developments since 1912 when he said the late Theodore Roosevelt campaigned for president on a court reform platform.

He said there had been a lot of feeling for judicial reform and it took shape in 1912 in the campaign of the Progressive party for all kinds of changes such as the recall of judges and the overriding of decisions by popular vote.

An interesting thing, he added, was that for about 15 or 20 years that demand on the part of a large group had a very great effect on the courts and as late as 1914 the elder LaFollette and Burton K. Wheeler, Democratic senator from Montana, ran on a platform that demanded all kinds of drastic changes. During those years when there was agitation for judicial reform there were some pretty effective results, he said, declaring that the courts listened.

They made their decisions, he added, more along judicial lines than legislative lines.

Renewed Agitation

That situation prevailed, he said, until the administrations of President Coolidge and Hoover, when the courts, he asserted, proceeded more along legislative lines.

This brought a realization generally, the spokesman continued that agitation had to be renewed and this was begun with President Roosevelt's surprise message to congress on Feb. 5 requesting a revision among the lower and highest courts.

The spokesman asserted that President Roosevelt believed an interesting parallel now exists as a result of the administration effort in this congress with the days when the "courts listened." Therefore, he believed that a large part of his court program already has been accomplished, temporarily at least.

Meanwhile, senators who fought for five months over the Roosevelt judiciary bill joined amicably today in drafting a skeleton measure to speed up lower federal courts.

They predicted that congress, clamoring for adjournment, would enact it quickly. The bill will substitute for the administration proposal which the senate discarded yesterday, 70 to 20.

Thus the legislative "battle of a century" ended. Opposition leaders called the senate vote a complete rejection of President Roosevelt's proposal for revising the supreme court.

The new measure will not mention that high tribunal. It will authorize increasing the number of lower court judges on the basis of need rather than age.

Direct appeal of constitutional cases to the supreme court will be permitted, and the attorney general will be empowered to intervene in cases involving the federal government.

The senate judiciary committee may take up to 10 days to write the substitute.

It Is Said--

THAT the season for lake flies is on at Lake Winnebago. Cottagers report that in early evening swarms of the harmless flies can be seen flying about 30 feet above the ground and that the humming sound from their wings can be heard a block away. Thousands of flies are in each swarm which take on the appearance of a smoke cloud.

That Several Women Passing the Soldiers' monument on S. Onondaga street this morning were given a scare by a large pine snake. The snake was dead, however, and was later removed by police. Some persons were of the opinion that the exhibit escaped from a jungle exhibit at a carnival here while others believe it was thrown or fell from a passing car.

That whatever the reason, police are receiving fewer complaints about dog damage than they did a few weeks ago. Various theories are advanced in explanation of the charges, but police believe Appleton pet owners generally are complying with the city ordinance against permitting dogs to run at large on public streets and parks during the summer.

That horsehoe pitching is more popularly known as a men's game but two local women can be seen "loose" ringers about 6 o'clock every morning at a local park.

LaFollette to See Harry Hopkins

Also Plans to Lunch With President Roosevelt In Washington

Madison —(P)— Governor LaFollette's office said today the executive left for Washington immediately after speaking at Northwestern university, Evanston, Ill., yesterday afternoon.

His office said he would confer with Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, and probably would lunch with President Roosevelt today.

Governor LaFollette told the class in contemporary thought, at Northwestern university, "there would have to be a re-alignment of parties to meet the nation's needs."

"Neither communism nor socialism is the way out for political democracy," LaFollette said.

Republicans, he asserted, "have sensed the qualities of responsibility which are necessary in this world today, but they haven't applied it in 1937."

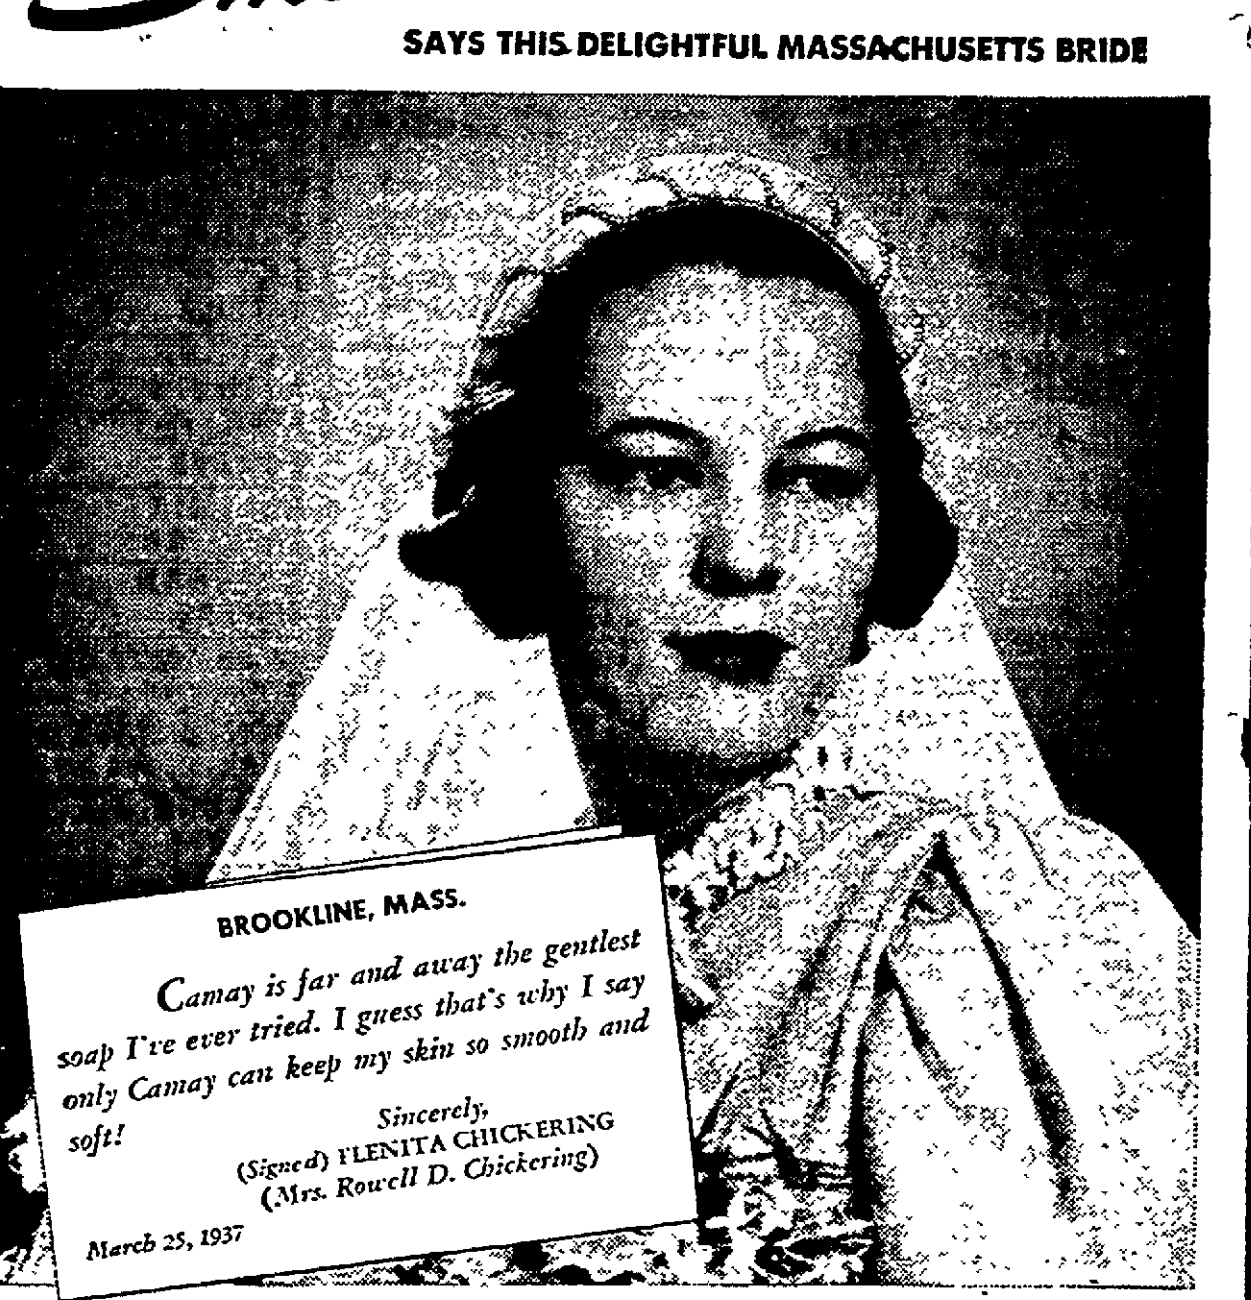

Of the Democrats, he said, "they have developed a program which recognized the needs of collective bargaining but have failed in setting the program and encouraging individual responsibility."

Hearings Arranged On Milwaukee Claims

LUCKY the man who's found a bride so lovely, and so clever, too! "If you ask me," says charming Mrs. Chickering, "a girl doesn't have to be very clever to know it's important to have soft, smooth skin. I've got the easiest care in the world for mine—Camay!"

It would be a shame not to set off those clear, blue eyes and that mischievous mouth with a really lovely complexion! It's a shame for any girl not to keep skin clear and smooth. For it's easy with Camay!

There are so many reasons why. No soap has the same rich, velvety lather Camay has. Its fragrant beauty bubbles go down deep to remove every speck of grime and dirt. Camay's lather is thorough—makes your skin feel fresh, alive, because it's really clean.

Today and Tomorrow

BY WALTER LIPPMAN

Let Us Have Peace

It has been obvious that in this closing phase of the struggle over the judiciary bill the only real concern of the President's supporters has been to maintain his prestige. They have long since ceased to think about the commerce clause and due process and five-to-four decisions. For on all the main points the Supreme Court has overruled itself and removed the substantial causes of complaint. Taking into consideration the arguments of the ablest and sincerest advocates of the bill, it could have been withdrawn by the President when the Supreme Court adjourned, and he could very plausibly have claimed a great moral victory.

Since that time insistence on the bill has made no sense, except on the hypothesis that the President meant to prove to the country that he can have whatever he wants whenever he wants it. This is what his friends have in mind when they talk about "prestige." The great majority of them in Congress have been persuaded that if they did not enact the bill Mr. Roosevelt's reputation would be so damaged that the remainder of his term would be like that of the last two years of Wilson and of Hoover. As partisans, and also as patriots, they felt it their duty to avert such a catastrophe. But there were also a minority, more royalist than the king, more zealous than the zealots, who have wanted to force the decision, believing that if Mr. Roosevelt overruled Congress on this issue with such formidable opposition, his personal power would thereafter be irresistible.

Prestige Involved Only So Far As He Wants It

But the truth is that Mr. Roosevelt's prestige is involved only in so far as he chooses to get it involved. The President of the United States, unlike the prime minister under parliamentary government, does not resign when one of his important measures is defeated. He carries on. He retains all his powers under the law, and though his influence may be reduced, it is not destroyed, and can be revived. Even Mr. Hoover, after the devastating defeat he had suffered in his first Congress, was by no means down and out, and for a brief period in the summer of 1931 might very readily have reestablished his influence had he dared to meet the necessities of the crisis.

The fact of the matter is that any President has enormous power, and that a great majority of the American people are instinctively well disposed to any President. There is little doubt, for example, that after the election a year ago President Roosevelt could have carried almost any policy which he presented with adequate arguments and promoted in a conciliatory spirit. What no President can do in this democracy is to arouse the conviction that he relies not upon the justice of his cause and the wisdom of his policies and the reasonableness of his motives, but rather on his power, his own say-so, his own majestic supremacy. That puts up the dander of the ordinary American who just does not enjoy the spectacle of any one who thinks he is more than life-size.

If Mr. Roosevelt wishes to re-establish his prestige after his disastrous interlude, he can do it easily enough. Let him abandon the idea that he has a personal man-the "objective" of the American nation. Let him remember to be President of the United States, and let him scrap the notion that he is the appointed leader of a faction. Let him not suggest measures until he has submitted them to the recognized leaders of his party; let him wish to have those measures debated, and let him treat criticism as a necessary function of government, not as a conspiracy by tax dodgers and oppressors of the poor.

That is not hard to do. That is what the President of the United States is supposed to do. That is the kind of President Mr. Roosevelt once intended to be. He will be amazed how readily the people respond, how little vindictiveness remains in his most effective opponents, how gladly the people would welcome the news that for the remainder of his term Mr. Roosevelt meant to promote his reforms by uniting rather than by dividing the country.

For it is already well understood, and can easily be made more understood, that what prosperity we enjoy today rests on the precarious foundation of an exceedingly disordered world. For that reason, if our well-being and our hopes of progress are to be preserved and defended, we must have unity among men of good will and we cannot afford the luxury of personal and factional and partisan animosity.

HAVE YOU YOUR ROAD PERMIT?

A little while ago the Post-Crescent developed in this column the fact that the average cigarette smoker in America pays $21 a year to the national government, and sometimes an additional amount to his state government. All this for the mere privilege of smoking.

Of course, if this individual had to go and plunk down that amount on the first of January for a license to smoke he would hit the ceiling, and, what is worse, vote the wrong way. Making the tobacco manufacturers collect the tax for the national government is the happy solution.

But, since the smoker is often the driver of a car, let him not think that paying his $21 per annum for the right to puff, he has yet acquired the right to use the highways. That is going to cost even more.

At least the American Petroleum Industries, with its finger on the pulse and the figures, reports as follows:

"Last year the typical motorist used 641 gallons of gasoline, on which he paid $30.93 in state and federal taxes."

Yet, after Mr. Average Citizen pays $21 for the privilege of smoking and $30.93 for the privilege of using his highways, let him not gather the erroneous notion that the rest belongs to himself.

The government chuckles as it uses tobacco manufacturers and oil companies to collect its taxes for it, chuckles louder as it notes how dumb Mr. Average Citizen is, how his eyes are covered with a film like those of a blinking toad, and cannot follow its swift manipulations. "Now you see it and now you don't."

Yet, the American has only started to pay his taxes. He cannot turn at any hour of the day but what the government gouges him.

But he doesn't care so long as the government wears a beautiful mask. And the government has a trunk full of masks.

TELEVISION'S ILLS

Much of the talk about the inevitability of television—as a mass proposition like radio—misses the important human principle that the eye tires quicker than the ear. Also that, to be enjoyed, television programs must be watched as closely as a motion picture.

Television, in other words, can never form a background, like radio, for ironing or sock darning.

Many informed observers of the industrial scene hold that in television lies the next major expansion—of sales, of employment, of capital. And the common hope, of course, is that those who see it this way are correct. There is the possibility, however, that television will remain "around the corner" until science devises some method of overcoming the obstacles posed by human limitations—such as this business of the eye growing tired of continued concentration.

If this should turn out to be one of the principle problems of television it will be one of the first cases in which science has met a problem likely beyond its power to solve. The intricate workings of the eye and ear are subject to universal laws—laws which, in all probability, cannot be altered.

Science can smooth out the various "bugs" that affect television reception. It can probably evolve sooner or later a nearly "perfect" technical status for television. But it may not be able to do much about holding attention sharply focused on a television screen for hours at a time, after the novelty of television has worn off. Perhaps the problem can be solved—by program directors, if not by scientists.

Television will bring to the entertainment profession more difficult requirements than any ever before conceived.

WAR MORALITY

When German leaders found their armies stalemated in France in 1915, a policy of unrestricted submarine warfare was decided on. When Italian forces in Ethiopia made too little progress, poison gas was employed to clear the way.

Solemn agreements that there would be no recourse to these agencies were abrogated when necessity determined policy. In war, when ruthlessness may hold the promise of victory, humane instincts have short shrift.

There are no rules of warfare, civilized or savage, that can or will be kept when victory or defeat are the issues.

There is talk that poison gas has been introduced in the fighting in Spain. The talk should not cause surprise. Gas will be used, if and when it serves the purpose of either combatant and if the gains it promises will not be outweighed by the alienated support of sympathizers with causes.

There is only one rule in warfare, the rule that might makes right. Might has its uses, too, if a Nation hopes to keep out of war. It is the only thing that earns the respect of war-makers.

ENGINEER'S EXPERT OPINIONS

Because of Quoddy and the Florida ship canal reputable engineers in America are concerned over their profession, its standing, and its duty when political chicanery is at the helm.

At the American Institute of Electrical Engineers at Milwaukee the proposition was submitted concerning the duty of the profession when it sees the government digging "a hole in the sands of Florida to no good purpose" or when it witnesses the construction of a dam "to supply electrical power in a region already amply supplied, or to irrigate land in a region of no inhabitants while farm lands stand idle close by, or to render navigable a stream that proceeds into a wilderness."

The engineers have found that however foolish a project may be the government by a judicious use of money and influence may obtain an isolated opinion here or there upholding the expenditure. They know that the people can never understand the real truth because they are unacquainted with either the standing or character of the alleged engineer induced to make such a statement, and the methods employed upon him are of course carefully concealed.

The problem is just about on a parallel with that facing the medical profession. The sanest man in the world if he needs an opinion calling him a madman to get him out of some scrape does not have so much difficulty in finding a graduate of a medical school duly admitted to practice his profession and with many years of practice behind him to come to the opinion that he is abnormal and to so state from the witness stand.

Making examples in the criminal courts of men who are so dishonest is probably the only practical method of meeting situations of this character.

In the meantime hundreds of millions of money are lost to the people, great rows of permanent buildings stand idle on bleak shores, streams "made navigable" still trickle a little ways and disappear, and ship canals still take the cake in the way of nation's folly in this period of supreme carelessness.

WE'VE EARNED A BITE

The Russians made big news recently when they landed planes on the ice near the North Pole and established men there in a fur-lined hut and with a year's rations. That news since has been dwarfed in popular imagination, of course, by the over-the-Pole flight of three Russians from Moscow to Vancouver, Wash. The point is, the Russians completed preparations for both attempts with great secrecy. It is no wonder that their successful efforts make startling news.

The British, likewise invoking secrecy, have had an expedition in the Antarctic for nearly two years. Now the expedition is home again and Britain prepares to claim territorial sovereignty in lands about the South Pole. Australia and New Zealand support the claims. The Norwegians also are busy.

The Russians in the North have reported they are floating on an ice field over a polar sea two miles deep. Not a great deal is known about the lands covered by the North Pole ice cap. But Antarctica is believed to contain vast hidden wealth in raw materials, including coal.

Americans also have gone to a great deal of trouble to reach the top and bottom of the earth. There was Robert Edwin Peary who discovered the North Pole in 1909. There have been Lincoln Ellsworth's and Richard E. Byrd's expeditions to the South Pole, first reached by Roald Amundsen, the Norwegian, in 1911.

Perhaps there is land enough at both Poles to satisfy everyone. It does not seem likely, however, when one recalls history's lessons concerning the appetites of nations, Britain's appetite, particularly, always has been a healthy one. If Britain wants the biggest bite of Antarctica, it may behoove the United States to pull up closer to the table. Certainly the right of the United States to a piece of the pie is established. This would appear to be a time when a boarding-house reach may prove to be a useful accomplishment.

To inform barbarians of the Romans' ship-building secrets was punishable by death under the code of Justinian, A. D. 524.

United States forest rangers have discarded their traditional Stetsons for a more civilian type of hat.

NEWSPAPERMAN'S SUMMER LAMENT

The sidewalk's very hard and hot
 As I pound it, out in search of news;
 I wouldn't mind it, though, so much,
 If I could just peel off my shoes.

When sitting down before my desk,
 Oh, there's really not so much to lose.
 With my toes a-cooling in the breeze,
 If I could just peel off my shoes.

Sure, there's joy in Scotch and seltzer,
 In mint juleps and such quenching booze,
 But I'd settle for a ten ounce beer
 If I could just peel off my shoes.

The passing of Guglielmo Marconi, whose name was magic to your correspondent in boyhood as he tinkered with crystal sets and one lung battery outfits, is indeed a sad one. At the same time, he went with full knowledge of his contribution to world progress.

This good fortune did not come to such as Columbus, Shakespeare, Gutenberg, and other greats whose names stretch out across history.

There seems to be considerable argument as to whether the Japanese sentries at the embassy in Peking, China, kicked the two American women in ruthless, brutal fashion, or whether they were forced to shove the honorable ladies to one side to keep them from nosing around.

Knowing the great American habit of trying to crash forbidden gates and of exhibiting an unquenchable curiosity about practically everything, however, I wonder if the sentries were really and truly all wrong.

Perhaps the honorable American ladies deserved an illustrious shove to aim their divine eyes elsewhere.

The chaplain of the Oklahoma state prison has asked that the prison school be enlarged because one of the new arrivals knows not who is president of the United States, what is the name of the county from which he has lived all his life and where he was sentenced; nor does he know the name of the judge who sentenced him or the name of the governor of Oklahoma.

Well, the chaplain may be right, but I don't know.

Maybe the guy is just stubborn. Maybe he doesn't want to know. Maybe he doesn't feel like finding out.

Maybe he doesn't even give a hoot.

Well, would you care if you were sentenced to the penitentiary?

On the other hand, there may be the possibility that the uninformed gent just isn't very bright. There are lots and lots of people with little in the way of schooling, but whose stock of information is magnificent.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

THE MIRACLE

There was a bank, above the Horseshoe Curve,
 Of ugly yellow clay that spoiled the view . . .
 One whose approach to beauty did not swerve
 From its ideal was grieved to see it, too;
 So quietly she set about to trade
 This ugliness for beauty, planting there
 A dozen honeysuckle plants that made
 A promise to perfume the summer air.

Her little girl was with her as she bent
 Above the ground, to give a final touch
 To the green plants; then happily she went Back to the rambling house she loved so much.
 Last year the little girl, a woman grown,
 Visited once again the old home place.
 And saw the ugly bank that she had known
 Transformed into a miracle of grace.

The honeysuckle covered the bare ground
 That had offended . . . Beautifully green,
 It spread luxuriantly all around
 Old Horseshoe Curve and added to the scene
 Something that had been missing through the years—

Her mother's love! Here, for her heart to see,
 Was that love coming from celestial spheres.
 To hide the clay bank of reality.

MARCONI'S ONE MAN REVOLUTION OF THE WORLD

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.
 Noted Physician and Author

OLD FASHIONED CHILDREN

From New England Mrs. W. J. W.

writes:

"I don't know why a house should not be made so a woman can rest, read, work and plan in it. I just read your second article on Odd House and I am glad to find this subject discussed in a health column. The home environment, it seems to me, is either neglected or treated timidly by most health experts."

"I am having my dining room converted into a library. I am having wheels put on my dining table. I meet with difficulty in getting large colored maps. It is a favorite indoor sport of mine following aviators around the world on the maps on my living room walls. My friends, at first dubious, are now scouting after handsome maps than mine. Not all of them. Some women hate my house because it is not like the Joneses."

"I had the footboards cut off all the beds. They were in the way. Only reason they put footboards on beds nowadays is because that's the way the Joneses have always liked 'em. I have discarded a small workload of alleged ornaments accumulated in twenty years of breathless pursuit of the Jones tradition—everything but a bit of tapestry from India, a thing that I treasure as a memento."

"But now I reach an impasse. I would like a swing settee before the wide windows looking out across a not unpleasant vista of lawn and shrubbery. But my nineteen year old daughter firmly vetoed this idea and thinks it would be too ridiculously out of place."

"Now please do not print anything about Odd House to shake the confidence of staid young folk like my daughter in your teachings and advice. I'd rather by far do without my silly swing than feel that my daughter no longer believes in the man on whose teachings she was reared."

End of letter.

After all, colored maps on a wall are not displeasing to look at, indeed they fascinate many of us.

If a swing settee is appropriate for the patio or porch or lawn why not for the house? The correspondent's daughter is amusingly slavish to what "everybody" thinks or does. Fortunately for her that she has a modern mother. Success to her in her campaign. Why can't women strive for individuality in their home surroundings as they do in hats or gowns?

Your Birthday

"LEO"

If July 24 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:45 to 11:45 a. m., from 3:45 to 5:45 p. m., and from 8:45 to 10:45 p. m. The dangerous periods are from 7:45 to 9:45 a. m., from 6:45 to 8:45 p. m., and from 10:45 p. m. until midnight.

When it comes to spending money, do not allow anyone to persuade you to spend more than you can afford this day. Be cautious how you attempt any hazardous feats this day, particularly in water sports, for accidents are liable to occur. You are, very likely, a gay, optimistic person, with a hair-trigger temper. You ought to possess decided histrionic talent, with a flexibility of voice that will be a valuable asset. Make good use of your talents this day, if by so doing you add to social gaiety. In this way your popularity may be increased. Married and engaged couples, as well as those aspiring to win someone's heart must not give the impression they are lacking in appreciation. If they are the object of some thoughtful attention, anyone whose feelings or pride is hurt this day will take a long time to forget and to forgive.

If a woman and July 24 is your birthday, you should be of a very compassionate, affectionate disposition, with a tender, soothing touch of hand. Children and domestic pets instinctively may have the greatest confidence in your friendly understanding of them. You are probably very outspoken, but have the gift of being so without giving offense. It is very important that you endeavor to direct your activities to work of a congenial nature, for you cannot do yourself justice in any line of business you dislike. As the owner or manager of a gift, beauty, dress or specialty shop, restaurant or school, you have a chance to become very prosperous. With the right man for a husband, you can face life with assurance and optimism.

The child born on July 24, during its adolescence, requires tender, sympathetic handling, as its spirit can be easily crushed. This youngster must be taught the importance of developing plenty of self-assurance.

If a man and July 24 is your natal day, you have probably a strong, dynamic personality. Gold is your metal, and the chances are good for your having your full share of it. Work of a promotional, educational, theatrical, chemical, literary or artistic nature, is apt to provide the channel through which your ship will come sailing home with plenty of wealth aboard.

IN PROPERLY DEFUSED TERMS

Editor Post-Crescent—Your interesting editorial, "Too Many 'isms,'" in Tuesday's issue of the Appleton Post-Crescent emphasizes an important point which would bear occasional repetition. The importance of sound definitions is apparently unappreciated in political groups although it is customary in scholastic debates to begin with definitions of questionable terms.

In a serious article in Harper's magazine, August 1935, by Stewart (Planned Economy) Chase, we find in use the terms "profit," "the free market," "labor," "credit," "consumption," "property," "income," "savings," "taxes," "costs," only two of which, "labor" and "property" are economic terms. It is typical of current articles and discussions on the various "isms" and naturally nothing but confused thinking results. The cause lies in the immaturity and slow development of the mother science, Economics, and it is historical that a definition of wealth and about which economics is concerned, was undefined until a generation or two ago. With the basic fact of economics only so recently defined it is easy to understand the difficulty in finding a reliable

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—Quietly circulating within the ranks of labor leaders and others interested is a plan for amending the Wagner labor relations act that arises almost from within the ranks of labor itself.

The demand for such a rewriting has grown increasingly insistent for several reasons—one is that strikes have continued in spite of it, another that it leaves optional with labor whether the act shall be brought into play.

For instance, during the first stages of the disturbances at Republic Steel, the Steel Workers Organizing committee, a CIO affiliate, refrained from calling in the labor board to conduct an election. It claimed to have a majority membership among the workers, yet declined to attempt exercising the right of bargaining, which a true majority would have given it. Republic, however, could not appeal to the board.

Break For Boss

With all due respect to the credibility of labor officials, the generally accepted opinion of newsmen and many others closely following strike developments was that the steel workers committee did not have a majority, but called the strike as a means of recruiting one. The new plan now quietly discussed still does not give the employer the right to ask an election. That would give him an opportunity to call an election when he felt the labor organization was at its lowest ebb.

But the new plan gives the employer a stronger position. First, it would let him require a newly recognized majority to undergo a six months' trial period. In that time the union would have to prove its ability to retain the majority in good order.

After that, however, the employer would be obligated to negotiate with the union and sign any agreement reached. That matter of signing an agreement has been a source of dispute.

Whip Hand

To this point, the new amendments proposed would appear to give labor and industry about a 50-50 break.

But the next phase of the proposal is that an employer would be permitted to withdraw recognition for one year of a majority union if the labor board determines it has breached a contract by striking or other means.

That still leaves the labor board with the whip hand, and to date it has been decidedly pro-labor. But it would impose substantial pressure upon the board to act in such a case as that presented by the automobile workers union, groups of which have struck repeatedly in the General Motors plant in open violation of the peace agreement reached six months ago.

The plan hasn't hit the surface yet, but is a subject of much undercover discussion.

Predicts Fall Business Will Show Increase

Babson Urges Individuals To Plan for Coming Pickup

BY ROGER W. BABSON
 Babson Park, Mass. — Sentiment has improved noticeably in the past fortnight. The gloom of early July is gradually lifting and confidence is slowly healing. Doubts are still expressed about Fall business, however. Many feel that when the current backlog of orders, built up during the Winter and Spring, finally runs out, business will suffer a sharp dip. As a matter of fact, we are having a gentle let-down which is more than seasonal. The Babsonchart reading today is 5 per cent above Normal, compared with 10 per cent above Normal in May.

Ten Factors Pointing Toward Prosperity

1. Crop prospects best in ten years.
2. Purchasing power highest since 1929.
3. Labor troubles on wane for 1937.
4. Congress nearer to adjournment.
5. Building costs easing off.
6. Inventories of goods not burdensome.
7. New industries forging ahead.
8. Foreign trade making great progress.
9. French crisis apparently passed.
10. Basic trend of business still upward.

Nevertheless, there are so many encouraging signs in the outlook that I cannot help being optimistic on Fall trade prospects. To back up my bullishness, I am discussing ten reasons why business should press further toward prosperity after Labor Day.

Crop Prospects are exceptionally good. Big harvests of grains, fruits, vegetables, cotton, tobacco, high egg and milk yields; good feed conditions for livestock; these all point to the best year on the American farm since 1929. Activity is already picking up where the harvest is underway. More traffic for railroads; a step-up for farm and rail equipment; brisker retail trade; increased business for farm products handlers of all kinds will be the result.

Purchasing power should be highest since 1929. The income of twenty-four million farm families should be at the rate of $12,000,000 per week higher than last year. Wage-workers are receiving a combined increase of $70,000,000 weekly last July. Investors' dividend checks are more than $10,000,000 higher every seven days than a year ago while vacationists' spending is up another $20,000,000 per week. This tremendous gain in consumers' income will, of course, pour into retail trade, and from there back to factories, jobs, and wages.

Labor troubles are apparently on the wane for 1937. CIO has shot its bolt for this year. Snow squalls and labor squalls do not go together. But we have not heard the last of the CIO by any means, although the spectacular 1937 show-down between labor and capital is about over.

Congress is getting set to leave the Capital. Senator Robinson's death may bring Washington to its senses. Business always feels better when Congress quits, especially the New Deal Congresses of the past five years which have passed so many laws handicapping industry and trade. Business men now know the rules under which they can operate, at least until next January.

Building Costs

Building costs are easing off. Since early Spring the home construction steamroller has been slowing down, although activity is still 25 per cent above a year ago. A 16 per cent jump since last Summer has lifted building costs to the highest level since 1920. It has been the major reason in retarding new building. Now, with construction faltering, costs are backing off. Lower costs will start the building spiral winding upward again with a beneficial effect on its 26 allied industries.

Inventories are not worrying me despite the high industrial production level since last September. Shelves, which were becoming overstocked early in the year, have been pruned back to normal by fairly good retail sales (roughly 10 per cent above a year ago). With prospects of excellent trade in the Fall, new orders will soon be filtering back to manufacturing plants.

New industries are slowly coming to the fore. Air-conditioning has reached the state of big business after its busiest season on record. Aviation employment is 56 per cent above the 1929 level. New glass, rubber, plastics, and other chemical products are forging ahead. Established companies in older industries are constantly discovering and marketing new products, thus building up sales volume and job and payroll totals.

Foreign Trade has made great progress in the last year. Since last November, exports have jumped 60 per cent and imports 40 per cent. The Administration's efforts to lift world commerce back to its old level are finally being rewarded. Foreign trade, while small in comparison to our total business, is vitally important. A $36,000,000 weekly gain in the over-seas sale of merchandise provides a big additional payroll and a lot of new jobs for American workers.

The French crisis seems to have passed, at least momentarily, although Japanese are again making trouble. The ridiculous psychological fear of lower gold prices has disappeared for the moment. World armament continues on apace, however, and that means the sale abroad of millions of dollars of American raw materials and munitions. Right now Germany and Italy are spending 60 cents of every tax dollar for armaments; France, 30 cents; Russia and England, 20 cents; and the United States, 13 cents!

The basic trend of business is still upward. This is most important of all, or five years (1931-35) the nation produced less than it consumed and built less than it destroyed. One year of relative prosperity cannot make up this deficiency. Depressions come only when securities are over-inflated, bank credit is over-expanded, inventories are over-stocked, productive capacity is over-built, and buildings and home are over-constructed. This is not the case today.

We have now just entered another period of prosperity.

Get Set Now

Of course, there always is at least one fly in the ointment. Today there is the fear of the eventual war brewing in Europe or the Far East. There is the factor of profit margins diminishing. The brow-beating of the utilities and the unbalanced budget keep business men and investors uneasy over the Administration.

Yet, despite these problems facing us, I believe that good business this Autumn is inevitable. Hence, my advice is to shape your Fall plans now. Work out your factory schedules. Check your raw material supplies and your inventories of finished goods. See that you have plenty of labor reserves on call. Fill your sales shelves. Have your sales promotion plans and your advertising campaigns all set. The fall of 1937 should see the best business in nine years!

tlement of the question of economic spheres on the Asiatic continent and the special rights Japan claims should be hers.

Government circles were said to be favorably inclined to such a move and direct negotiations between the two central governments were envisaged.

Well-informed circles declared Premier Fumimaro Konoye, apparently with the concurrence of the war office and the army and navy general staffs, contemplated a complete reorientation of his policy towards China. Primarily this was expected to substitute friendly cooperation and a joint Sino-Japanese program of economic expansion for forceful methods which heretofore have created friction.

The Chinese premier, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, was believed here ready to welcome such overtures and eagerly respond to them.

DEMAND IS MET

Peiping—Japanese army officers tonight announced the withdrawal of the Chinese 37th division southward from the Peiping area had been completed. This constituted Chinese compliance with the Japanese demand most vital to immediate restoration of peace in north China.

Spokesmen for the Japanese military said they considered the 37th division "anti-Japanese, for which reason it was impossible for it to remain in Peiping."

Japanese officers said that the heavy reinforcement of their forces in North China in the last two weeks was "for the sole purpose of safeguarding Japanese lives and property and also supervising Chinese execution of the recent agreements."

Most reliable reports indicate that Japan has sent about 12,000 fresh troops into North China to reinforce the garrison of 7,000. Various Chinese reports of Japanese preparations to land 35,000 men northeast of Tientsin or of actual arrivals of Japanese troops at Tsingtao have not been confirmed.

Some Chinese still feared that a major Japanese drive was impending against North China.

According to advices received in foreign circles from Tientsin, the Japanese army is making elaborate preparations for large-scale troop movements.

Appleton Yachtsmen Will Attend Bay Water Festival

GREEN BAY'S first annual water festival and homecoming at Bay Beach park this weekend will draw a large part of Appleton's boating population northward Saturday and Sunday. Heinemann, Max Klitzke, Paul Stevens, Cy Feller, John Fuhrmann, Dr. A. Lester Koch and Charles Schmidt.

The festival program will get under way Saturday night with the semi-formal dance which will be given by the Green Bay Yacht club in the beach pavilion. At that time a queen of the water festival and two attendants will be chosen from the crowd by a secret committee of judges.

Boating events will start at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Sail boat races will be arranged in four classes, and there will also be three different races for outboard motorboats. Owners of inboard runabouts will have their own event, and at 4 o'clock the captains of the cruisers will line up for their competitive event. phone of the Hall's stand in favor of Copeland, shouted happily. "That's good. I'm for Copeland."

Whalen, former police commissioner and onetime official city greeter, hailed the "slim margin" by which he lost the endorsement as indicative of "an overwhelming victory" for him in the city-wide primary Sept. 15.

The vote was a generalship triumph for Dooling whose post as leader hinged on the verdict. Victor in several attempts to unseat him during his three-year reign. Dooling had been expected to resign if the hall had failed to endorse his nomination. He was too ill to attend last night's meeting.

As Democratic ranks split, fiery Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia's campaign for reelection gained momentum with his endorsement again by substantially the same group of fusionists who backed his successful 1932 campaign.

The group, dominantly Republican, organized the "citizens non-partisan committee" to support LaGuardia.

Assurance by LaGuardia that, in addition to carrying the fusionist banner, he will enter both Republican and Democratic primaries promised one of the most scrambled majority races in recent campaigns. It was complicated further by Senator Copeland's announced intention to run in the Republican as well as the Democratic primary, 1932.

Suit-Preference Bid Signal Being Accepted

(Copyright, 1937, Ely Culbertson)
It takes a long time for new conventions to take their place in the repertoire of the average bridge player. Old habits die hard, and who is more a creature of habit than the aforesaid Mr. Average Player?

The suit-preference signal, mentioned in this column and in my books on many occasions, has traveled a rocky road before being accepted by the rank and file. A hand recently reported in the British Bridge World Magazine proves just how valuable the suit-preference signal can be in the hands of intelligent defenders.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

JO-JOTTE POINTER
A no trump bid is as often a defensive as an aggressive bid. For aggressive purposes you bid no trump only when you have a part score, so that you can make game even with fewer than 80 points; or when you have a strong no trump hand which is not favorable to play in any suit, so that you are willing to play for a relatively low score at the no trump contract, which you can surely make, rather than gamble on a trump contract which you may lose. For defensive purposes, the no trump contract may be named to prevent the opponent from promoting the value of his jacks and nines, or from utilizing the power of a trump suit in which he is particularly long and strong.

Write your bridge troubles and problems to Ely Culbertson, care of this paper, inclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Teach Children to Keep Distance From Strangers

BY ANGELO PATRI

It is wise and right to teach children to keep their distance from strangers. But it is not wise, nor right, to frighten them so that they are on the verge of panic at the sight of a new face. We ought to be able to teach children all that is necessary about this without blighting their lives.

One child's mother impressed him with the idea that anybody who offered him candy was a likely kidnapper, so when Jack, the plumber at work on the pipes in the cellar, offered him a share of his chocolate bar, the youngster screamed murder much to everybody's embarrassment and his own keen suffering.

One rainy afternoon that followed a sunny morning, little Jane refused to get into the car of a neighbor who offered to take her home with her own little girl. "I can't," said she. "My mother says I mustn't ever get into a car with you." The neighbor was not very close and while friendly, the two families saw little of each other. But the child interpreted the order to mean her neighbor along with others, and walked home in the face of a heavy storm.

"Why didn't you come in Mrs. Carey's car? She stopped and told me she would bring you."

"You told me never to go in the car with her," said little Jane stoutly. "You did so."

Children suffer needless fear about the whole matter. They have to be trained not to go with strangers, not to take gifts from them, not to talk to them about the family, not to keep aloof from them until they are old enough to understand their standing with the family has been made clear one way or the other.

Words have different meaning when used by different people, especially do they have different meanings to children and adults. If you tell a child not to associate with a stranger keep teaching him what you mean by stranger. The policeman, the doctor, the nurse, the postman, are not strangers, as the family regards them, but to the children they will be unless properly introduced and accepted.

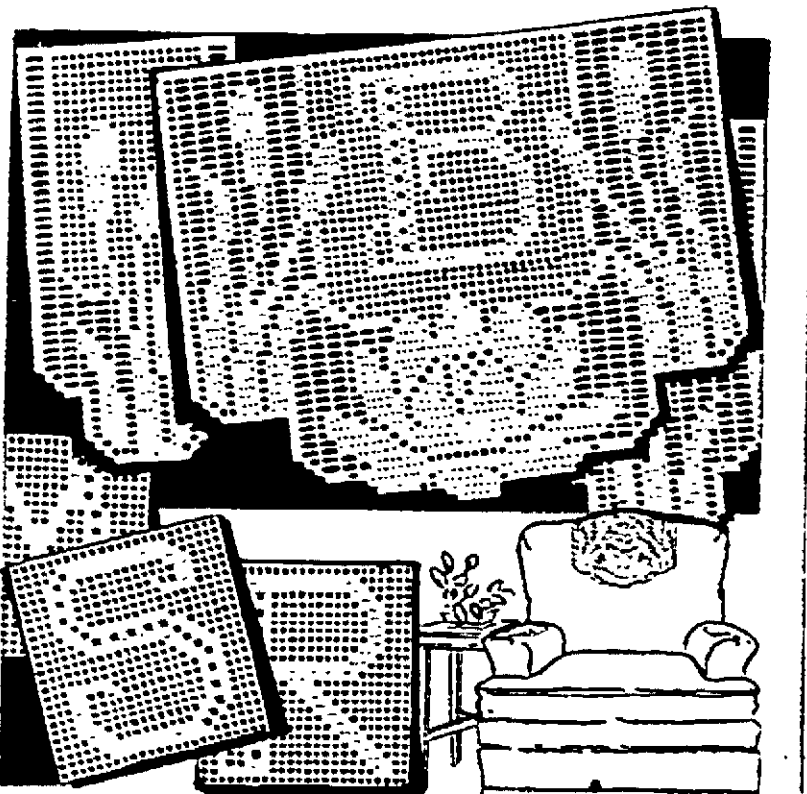

It won't do to tell a child to run away from any stranger who speaks to them. Running away brings on panic, and that is the last thing we want to do. It is enough to teach the children to be reserved with those they do not know, to speak politely and briefly, but no more. Children are rarely in danger when in their accustomed places, and one should be very careful when teaching them ordinary caution not to teach extraordinary fear.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Makeup for Tanned Skin Is Outlined

BY ELSIE PIERCE

YOUR skin has changed, hasn't it? In spite of all the talk at the beginning of the summer about gardenia complexion and pink and white perfection being the preferred thing with romantic, feminine fashions, I'll wager that you and those around you have adopted a coat of tan. Oh, it may be a light beige tone (and gradually darkening, to be sure), or it may be a deep gypsy tan, but the fact remains that your skin has become darker.

Remember that the first requisite of modern make-up is: powder must make the skin tone perfectly. If anything, a tone slightly darker than the skin is permissible, but not lighter. Lighter powder over a dark skin only serves as a confession to the world that you are using your winter make-up on your summer complexion. This in itself isn't serious, except that it does give one that much powdered look: which is anything but becoming. It also emphasizes skin flaws such as blemishes and wrinkles. So whatever you do change to a darker powder as your skin darkens. Keep pace with the sun. Learn to add a little darker powder and to blend your powder darker and darker as your tan deepens. You'll find that the more closely your powder matches your skin, the less you need to use to achieve a softened, mat finish, avoiding shine.

Remember, too, that your make-up ensemble must be in harmony. If you use powder to match your summer skin and your winter rouge the chances are it will look purplish or muddy next to your powder and your skin. During the winter the rose red, clear red and blue red shades wear better with pale complexions. But the dusty rose, warm beige and mellow reds (not clear or blue red) go better with summer tan. A suggestion of orange is permissible but avoid a definite orange cast, also yellow or muddy tones. Lip rouge must be the same general tone as cheek rouge, of course, the lip rouge just a bit more intense, but the same basic shade as the rouge.

Should Be Waterproof
Next in importance to harmony is a waterproof quality. Liquid rouge is excellent for this season; but it is not especially popular, first, because it is often drying and irritating to the skin and second it is difficult to use. Cream rouge gives a natural, lovely glow and if it is waterproof or perspiration proof it should last and look well for hours without needing renewing. Lip rouge should be fairly indelible and waterproof. Mascara is a very important item so far as water-proofing goes. Nothing is a sorrier sight than running mascara. So do be particularly careful to have your make-up in harmony and waterproof. Just because it is fairly difficult to achieve a smooth, lovely picture in a last long length of time, it ought to be fun to strive for just that. Let people express amazement. One of the nicest compliments is: "How do you do it?"

My detailed bulletin on Make-Up is yours for a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope. Address Miss Pierce in care of the Appleton Post-Crescent.

Old Gardener Says:

BY E. I. FARRINGTON
Phlox and hardy chrysanthemums are subject to mildew. It is advisable to dust them with sulphur or to spray them with some liquid preparation from the seed store. Delphiniums and hollyhocks develop rust or blights, which are best kept in control by repeated spraying or dusting with Bordeaux mixture. Dry Bordeaux used in the form of a dust is very useful. Dusting guns are inexpensive and dusts of all kinds are applied with ease, although it is advisable for the gardener to don his old clothes while he is doing the work. It is well for him, also, to keep his mouth tightly closed.

use a knife when the pancakes are to be buttered and covered with syrup, but one is rarely used for pancakes, which are either rolled or when they are in small sizes and are already covered with butter, sugar and cinnamon, then served.

3. When an attendant in a dressing room of a theatre or a restaurant has rendered no special service, it is necessary to leave something in the box which she has provided for tips?

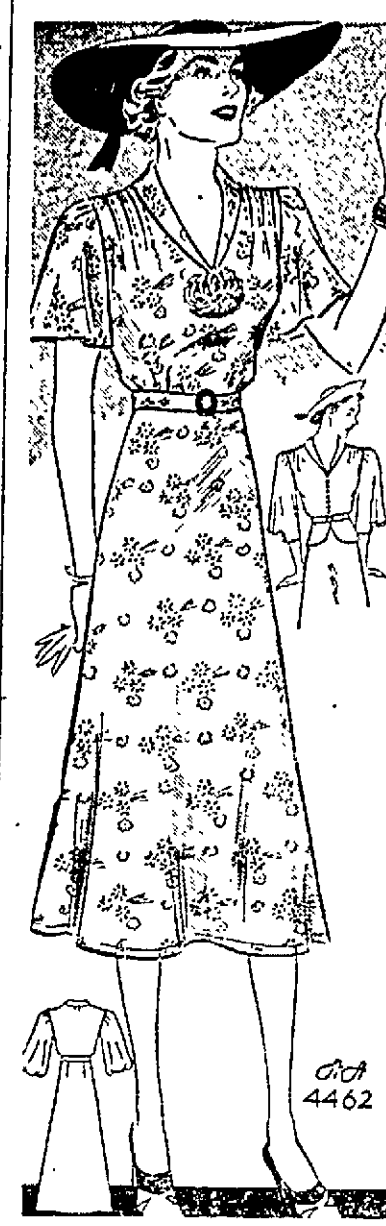

Answer: Unless she does something for you or unless you have checked your coat or other belongings in the dressing room, it is not necessary to fee the attendant.

4. When you help yourself to cream or syrup from a pitcher standing without any saucer on the table and you know that a drop or two will fall as you put the pitcher back, should you take the drop off with your finger, or let it spot the tablecloth?

Answer: Don't let it spot the tablecloth, whatever you do! Hold it over your plate and take a clean knife or spoon or fork—not your finger. If you lift the spout with a quick upturning motion after pouring, drops can usually be prevented from forming. Even so, a pitcher should never be put on a table without a tray or plate or saucer under it.

Pensions May Make Parents Independent of Children

BY DOROTHY DIX

Among the letters gossamer with tears that come to this column none are so pitiful as those written by old parents who know themselves to be unwelcome guests in their children's houses, unless they are the letters written by children, the peace and happiness of whose homes is being destroyed by their old parents.

DOROTHY DIX

Civilization offers no more insoluble problem than what to do with Father and Mother when they are old and helpless and can no longer fend for themselves, because it is mixed up with every complexity of life, with selfishness and ingratitude and lack of foresight and thrift and senile peculiarities and in-laws and modern children and what-not.

So when an old mother wails that she is so unhappy at John's because John's wife won't listen to her when she tells her how to raise the baby, and when Mary sobs that her husband used to spend every evening at home, but now puts on his hat as soon as dinner is over and goes to the poolroom because she says he will scream if he has to listen to Father tell one more time about the good trade he pulled off in '89, what is one to tell them? What are they to do in a situation that is full of misery for all concerned?

It is easy enough to say that the catastrophe shouldn't arise and that everybody should have prudence enough to provide themselves with the proverbial umbrella for the rainy day that is sure to come and lay up a competence for their old age. But this presupposes more intelligence and more self-control than the average man and woman possesses. Also that they get better breaks than most of them do.

Furthermore, the ability to save is just as much a talent and just as rare a one as the ability to make money, and the great majority of people lack it. A dollar burns in their hands until they spend it. They cannot deny themselves the pleasure of the moment, the parties they want to go to, the good clothes, the new car, for the sake of safety twenty or thirty years hence. They put off pinching the pennies for that later day that never comes.

Then there are the children with their insatiable demands upon them. Little vampires who suck the last cent out of them. Johnny who clamors for a sweater like the other boys. Sally who weeps for silk stockings to wear to school until she gets them. Bicycles and skates. Clubs they must belong to. College educations and cars and coming out parties. Poor people who give their children the things that rich children have. Poor parents actually boasting that they are investing their money in their children instead of in gilt-edged bonds. They feel safe, their children will look after them when they are old.

And then when they come to collect their debt, what grudging pay! How unwanted they are in their children's homes! How bitter is the bread of dependence they are forced to eat!

Yet the children have their side.

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

Chapter 51
"I Have You Covered!"
Farrington was dressed and waiting. I could see at a glance that she had been crying, but her mood was far from mellow.

"It's about time you put in an appearance, young man," she said curtly. "Where under the sun is Michael—or that Palmer girl? Am I to sit here all morning waiting for my breakfast?" No mellow was not the word.

"I'm sorry, Aunt Martha. Mike's been having a bad time trying to dress himself. I sent him down to Gay to see if she couldn't calm him."

It was the wrong approach. "Calm him?" snorted M. Farrington. "That little red-headed thing has had him on pins and needles ever since she got here. How is Barbara?"

"Sleeping," I tried to make my voice soothing. "She'll be O. K. when she wakes up."

"Humph! Under the circumstances you might find a better word for it. I suppose that if I am very good my chauffeur will allow me to see her for a few moments just before dinner. Come along, James! Now what is the matter?" I was hesitating with my hand on the door.

"Aunt Martha, there's something I wanted to talk to you about before the police arrive."

Her eyes blazed indignantly. "Police? Is that quite necessary? You may tell George Foster that I won't allow it."

"I'm afraid it will be out of his hands," I said. "He can help with the papers, of course, but—Aunt Martha, we ought to establish the fact that Higgins was a suicide before the police get here—and—"

"Don't stutter, I shan't stream. And what?"

"And in order to prove that, we must prove that the bullet which killed him came from the gun in his hand."

Her eyes widened. "Then find the bullet, James!" she said sharply. "I've been trying to do it, but it isn't there."

"Nonsense! It must be. Did you look in his head?"

"It passed right through his head."

Her chin went, if anything, a little higher. "James, you couldn't find anything if it were tied to the end of your nose. Never could. Open that door."

"She was something to look at. I can tell you, with the ears still wet on her face, stirring 'own that hall like a major-general. The rest of us might be ready for sanatoriums before we were through, but not Maratha Farrington."

"Children should be brought up with a little self-reliance," she stated. "If a man is shot, he is shot by a bullet. Obvious."

"Yes, ma'am," I said meekly, and we paraded forthwith into Higgins' room.

"Stand Over There"

Her face grew grim as she caught sight of that bed. But her voice was ragged.

"Poor fellow, James!" she said. "Poor, loyal Higgins. James!"

The last word came with such unexpected force as to make me jump. "Yes, ma'am," I said in the involuntary tone of my youth.

"Where was the first person to find him?"

"Yes. He was lying just as he is now."

"I see." Her face screwed in thought. "He was about your height. Stand over there by the wall."

Without a word I obeyed her.

"Now then, a man about to kill himself is in no state of mind to sit down. He must have been standing here," she suited the action to the word, "with his gun in his hand like this." She stood facing the bed dramatically. "He pulls the trigger, is spun completely around by the force of the explosion, and lands on his back on the bed. The bullet must be over your head there, James."

The blanket over the dead man's form had not been moved. From the moment that I realized that M. Farrington, who had known Higgins all his life, was depicting that death scene with the imaginary revolver held in her right hand, my limbs had gone suddenly stiff. Even after she had finished speaking, I could not move. Her voice rang out sharply.

"Don't move, James! As the expression goes, I have you covered!"

She had reached under the blanket and removed the revolver from Higgins' hand. It was trained straight at my heart.

I muttered something that didn't make sense.

"Quite so, James." Her smile was unpleasant. "You see it happens that my brother Norman was not insane. Barbara did not believe that. I would have showed her sharply."

Pantry Lunches Easily Defeat Kemkes, 11 to 2

First Round Champions Show Power as Second Round Opens

Kaukauna—Pantry Lunches, pennant winners of the first half of the city Twilight Softball league, looked like champions again last night as they walloped out 15 hits to defeat Kemkes 11-2 at the library grounds.

Tonight the Pantries will play again, this time against Knappells, to start the second round of play for the last half of the season.

Cliff Vanevenhoven, lead-off man for the Pantries, socked a home run in his first trip to the plate to serve notice of the coming barrage of base hits. Pantries scored twice in the first inning, while Kemkes also got one tally, but after that the tavern club was never close to winning.

The champs scored again in the second and third, piled up four more in the fourth, and wound up scoring with 3 tallies in the sixth. Kemkes got their second run in the third.

Jim McFadden took the mound for the pantries for the first time this season and allowed seven hits and walked two, while he led his team mates at the plate with three hits in four trips up.

Billy Kuchelmeister pitched for the Kemke outfit. Beyer led Kemke batters with two doubles in three trips up.

'Gone With Wind' Most Popular Book At Public Library

Kaukauna—Margaret Mitchell's "Gone With Wind" is still the most popular book at the Kaukauna Public library, Miss Bernice Happer, librarian, said today as she checked over the books that have the longest waiting lists.

There are three copies of this book on the shelves and these are loaned out for only two weeks, but there are still 32 persons who have asked for reservations on them. The one rental copy never is on the shelf long before it is taken out, Miss Happer said.

Next most popular book among Kaukauna readers is Victor Heiser's "American Doctor's Odyssey," which has 10 persons demanding it. Dale Carnegie's "How to Win Friends and Influence People," though placed on the two weeks restricted list, has nine persons signed up for it. Virginia Woolf's "The Waves" can just keep up with demands.

Interesting, Miss Happer says, is the popularity of a new collection of Paul Bunyan stories, by Mc Cormick. The book, bought for children, has been so in demand by adults, that few children have gotten a peek at it yet.

Mill Purchase to Be Before Court

Kaukauna Utility Seeks Approval of Previous Action

Kaukauna—Approval of the purchase of the old Outagamie mill by the city of Kaukauna Electric utility will be before Judge Edgar V. Werner of the circuit court at the county court house, Appleton, tomorrow morning.

Approval will mean that the mill will become the property of the utility, with all the water rights connected to the mill. Failure to get approval will lead to more legal action around the old mill, action which has included a sheriff's sale and much discussion over the back taxes on the property. Kaukauna's utility was high bidder for the property at the auction held in Appleton about a month ago.

Girls to Continue Their Education

Garden Club Prepares For Exhibits Aug. 14-15

Kaukauna—With the annual Kaukauna Garden club flower show set for Aug. 14 and 15 the entry committee, named at a special meeting of the executive committee this week, is making plans for the exhibition.

Displays of professional and amateur growers will be placed in the high school corridors. Judges from Green Bay will pick the winners and award cash prizes to the first and second place exhibit in the particular classifications.

Members of the entry committee, who are preparing the show are Mrs. John Haen, chairman, Mrs. William Harwood, Mrs. Ben Prugh, Mrs. Dan McCarty, Jr., and Mrs. Joseph McCarty.

Professional growers who are certain to prepare exhibits for the Kaukauna show are the Kaukauna Floral company, the Riverside Floral company, Appleton, Geenen's Greenhouse, Kimberly and the Wayside Floral company, Little Chute.

The entry committee expects several other professional growers besides these. Mark Catlin, Sr., Appleton, noted as a grower of dahlias for a long time, will probably enter a group of his flowers, though no definite arrangement with him has yet been made by the club.

The executive committee of the club, which made original plans for the show, includes William Hass, also president of the Garden club, Fred Milz and John Berkers.

Belongea's Team Downs Grignon's

Victors Score Easy Win, 22-4, in Hardball League

Kaukauna—Jerome Belongea's team in the Boys' Senior Hardball league ran up a score of 22 runs as they defeated Sylvanus' Grignon's team 22-4 at the Kaukauna ball park yesterday morning. Jack Ma-thias pitched and Billy Alger caught for the winners, while Phelan Feun caught for the losers. The game dropped Grignon's boys in last place in the league and gave Belongea a .500 average.

Junior league play saw the Pirates and Sox battle nip and tuck until the Pirates edged out an 8-7 victory at the library grounds. Mickey Walsh pitched for the Sox, while Bob Clark caught. The Pirates used three pitchers, George Egan, John Vandebrook, and Myron Belongea, while Vandebrook and Egan took turns at catching.

REPAIR FURNACES

Kaukauna—Repairing of the furnaces in the Municipal building is being done this week by city workmen. The work requires tearing down of some parts of the furnace equipment and rebuilding them for use next winter.

SOTAL Fife and Drum Corps Will Go to State Meet

Kaukauna—Tomorrow is the last day to sign up for the city handicap golf tournament, to be held at the Kaukauna club course during the next month, and open to any person of the city, whether he is a club member or not. The president's cup tournament, for club members only, will be held with the city tournament.

Registrations are coming in briskly, according to committeemen and will begin Sunday, as soon as the registrations are finished. The qualifying round will be used to determine the handicap that one will have in the tournament and also to cut down the number of players to the right sized group for matched play in the rest of the week. Persons wishing to enter the meet may sign up with Ernest Killick, golf pro, or Robert Grogan.

Qualifying rounds are expected to be finished in one week, and after that the match play will start. Club members who wish to enter both city and president's cup tournaments may play for both by going just one qualifying round next week. After that, however, the match play begins and the tournaments will be run separately.

Start Play Next Week In Outdoor Basketball

Kaukauna—Basketball play will begin in the playground leagues next week, when all equipment is ready for action.

Posts with bounding boards and baskets were erected last week and painted a few days ago. The baskets still need nets, and when the equipment is ready, junior and senior leagues will start play. The cage games will have to be sandwiched between the morning baseball games which now occupy the time of close to 100 boys.

SPEEDER FINED

Kaukauna—Edward Jaki, 302 West Seventh street, paid a fine of $5 and costs of $4.75 in Justice Barney Mitchka's court yesterday on a charge of speeding.

Kaukauna Juniors Hope to Cop High Honors This Year

Kaukauna—Tonight's practice session for the Sons of the American Legion Fife and Drum corps is part of a rigid schedule of three practices a week that will be followed until after the legion convention at Milwaukee during the middle of August.

Anxious to better the third prize for the state, which the corps won at Menasha last year, the youthful players are meeting every Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the convention. Practice is held under the direction of Harry Treptow, Sr. Financing the trip of the corps members to Milwaukee will be met partly by contributions given to the legion for that purpose. Committeemen to whom contributions by individuals or organizations may be made include George Schubring, chairman, Arthur Schubring, Joseph C. McCarty, Dr. C. J. Flanagan, Harry Treptow, Sr., John Vandenberg, Alfred Wagnitz, Olin G. Dryer, Lester J. Erenzel, Dave Egan and Arthur Kromer.

The Kaukauna group would make two appearances at the convention according to present plans. They will enter drill competition Sunday with other similar organizations of the state, and on Monday they will march in the parade.

Harry Treptow, Jr., is the new drum major for the group, while James Mayer holds the position of twirling drum major.

Defeat of Court Plan Victory for Public Opinion

Roosevelt Suffered Blow to Prestige in Fight, Lawrence Says

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—The supreme court of the United States is safe from political sabotage. The tribunal which the whole civilized world has learned to revere stands unharmed after five months of the most violent attack that ever was visited upon it in the 150 years of its existence.

It is a victory for public opinion. It is a victory also for the statesmanship of the president. The fight, risking political reprisals from the Roosevelt administration, and for the Republican group which had the good sense not to permit the issue to become political or partisan.

But the historian will have to add also that it was the most damaging defeat that President Roosevelt has suffered in his public career. It was, moreover, an entirely unnecessary and uncalled for blow to his prestige because it was inflicted only by himself.

As the record is closed on a most dramatic chapter in the president's experiences with congress, the question will be asked again and again why Mr. Roosevelt took the risk he did and where his political judgment, hitherto extolled, happened to be when he failed to take advantage of opportunity after opportunity to avoid a crushing defeat.

Recognized Mistake
Most everybody hereabouts recognized on Feb. 5, when the president took his own party leadership and the whole nation by surprise with his message bitterly attacking the supreme court and proposing that it be packed with six additional justices, that a mistake had been made. I looked up the dispatch which I wrote for Feb. 6 and find this comment:

"Had President Roosevelt laid in advance before leaders of both houses of congress his proposal to increase the size of the supreme court, most of them would have advised against it. Now, torn between political loyalty and convictions, those leaders find it embarrassing to oppose the measure. It is an example of a lack of that cooperation with the members of one's party in the legislative branch of the government which might have avoided perhaps the most colossal blunder of the Roosevelt regime. Indeed, unless the proposal is withdrawn, it may start the movement that will break up the Democratic party and produce embarrassment for the rest of the president's second term."

The foregoing was a reflection of the feeling and sentiment on Capitol Hill within 48 hours after the court plan was launched. Mr. Roosevelt may have been doubtful about congressional sentiment that day, but in the weeks that followed he could never have been in doubt. It turns out that even his intimate friends and supporters like Governor Lehman told him long ago he was on the wrong track. Vice President Garner told him. Senator Robinson unquestionably reported accurately the sentiment among members of the Democratic party. Certainly close friends like Senators O'Mahoney of Wyoming and Wheeler of Montana didn't mince words and it is reported that Chairman Sumners of the house judiciary committee and Speaker Bankhead, too, spoke out frankly to the president.

He Wouldn't Budge
But Mr. Roosevelt wouldn't budge. Why? Is it possible that he set up his own judgment as better than the opinion of all the veterans in congress believing that the "yes men" in his cabinet and the ambitious lesser lights in official circles knew more about it than the others? Or did Mr. Roosevelt, fresh from the applause of South American capitals and with the cheers of huge demonstrations on the streets of the big cities during the last campaign still ringing in his ears, imagine that he was a better judge of public opinion than anybody else in the country?

There were dozens of opportunities for real compromise, for graceful retreat, even for the attainment of the larger objectives. But Mr. Roosevelt stubbornly refused them all. Thus at any time within the last five months both houses of congress would have voted by a two-thirds vote a constitutional amendment compelling retirement of supreme court justices at 75 years of age. It might possibly have even approved of a 6 to 3 vote being required for holding unconstitutional an act of congress or of the state legislatures though this proposal would have been much more controversial.

Question Purposes
In other words, the big objective of dealing with the alleged tenacity of justices of advanced age would have been reached by proposals to amend the constitution. But the president was deaf to all such pleas. The blunder is not of the ordinary kind. It is not easily repaired. The president's prestige has not only been impaired but grave doubts have arisen as to the true purposes of Mr. Roosevelt with respect to other legislation which plainly seeks to centralize more power in Washington and a great deal more in the hands of the chief executive.

The proposed reorganization of federal executive department, which in the main is a splendid thing, will now be subjected to more scrutiny than before and it is doubtful whether the scheme to run the quasi-judicial commissions will ever get through or the plan to eliminate the severe audit of expenses which the comptroller general has heretofore exercised on behalf of congress.

The pendulum will continue to swing away from the president unless he recognizes that the country is not as radical or as sympathetic to reckless legislative proposals from the "brain trust" as he has been. Congress is anxious to adjourn. The wages and hours bill is probably dead for the session and so also are various other schemes and plans some of which had some worthwhile points in them but which must now be lost in the legislative jam because a thought 1-man government was as applicable in America as it seems to be abroad.

The greatest result of the fight is the effect on congress itself. The rubber stamp has been taken from the backs of a large majority of the members. There is, indeed, a new majority in the senate and perhaps also in the house. For the country rose to the occasion and told congress that to tamper with the supreme court was to break down constitutional government and on that issue there could be no compromise. The citizens who gave their time and energy to have the satisfaction of knowing that they helped on the 150th anniversary of the constitution to save that instrument from the worst example of attempted usurpation of power that has been recorded in the whole history of the American republic.

See Increase of Million in State Aids to Schools

High, State Graded and Rural Institutions to Get More Funds

Madison—Wisconsin schools will receive an estimated $1,210,000 more for state aid in 1937-1938 than they received in 1936-1937 by the passage of a new high school aid bill by the last legislature, according to an analysis made by the Wisconsin Taxpayers Alliance. The law not only affects high schools, but state graded schools and rural schools as well.

"Under the old law high schools received $175,000 a year in state aid. The new law provides for appropriations of $184,750 in the 'A' budget and $1,236,250 in the 'B' budget for high school aids. These aids are to be distributed $200 for each year of high school work and the balance of the fund on the basis of the number of pupils in average daily attendance in each school or an estimated $7.50 per pupil."

"High schools will receive $354,400 in flat aid and $936,800 for the 127,035 pupils in average daily attendance. This amounts to a total aid of $1,318,000 annually, an increase of $1,143,000 over the old law. About $273,000 of this state aid may not be retained by the high school, but will be returned to districts from which tuition pupils come."

$65,000 More
"State graded schools will receive about $65,000 more under the new law than under previous appropriations. Under the old law state graded schools received $125,000 aid. Claims, however, were about $150,000 and the aids were prorated in 1936-1937 at 90 per cent."

"On the basis of last year's reports there would be 132 state graded schools offering high school courses to receive high school aid but no graded school aid under the new law. This aid amounts to an estimated $65,000. The remaining $33 state graded schools not giving high school courses will receive the usual $125,000 in state aid, but as there are fewer of them, the aid will not have to be prorated and these schools will receive 100 per cent of their aid," the Alliance bulletin reported.

Also Get More
"The nine rural schools teaching advanced courses will receive about $1,300 more by being eligible for high school aid. The old law appropriated $10,000 for advanced courses in rural schools to be distributed $25 per pupil enrolled. Only $725 of this amount was used for the 29 pupils enrolled in 1935-1936. Under the new law these schools will receive $2,058 high school aid on the same basis as high schools."

"Elementary school aids were increased $100,000 a year by the 1937 legislature," the bulletin stated.

County Farmers Start Harvesting Within Week

Outagamie county farmers this week were winding up their haying season and making preparations for harvesting grain. Some farmers already have started barley cutting.

While farmers report good cuttings of timothy as well as alfalfa, sweet clover and red clover they expect only fair crops of barley and oats. The rye and wheat crops will be somewhat better, they believe, though only average.

Other crops are growing well but more rain is needed to maintain sufficient moisture in the ground, since the subsoil is much drier this year than usual.

Hot weather and insufficient rain has resulted in prospects for a fair to average crop of maturing grain near the Jamison Bros. farm, route 1, Appleton, according to reports from that farm. There has been a little infestation of black stem rust in the barley fields, but not enough to warrant treatment.

The practice of threshing in the fields to avoid extra work of shocking and then hauling the bundles to the farm yard to be moved or stacked away is becoming more popular. About half the farmers in the county are now using this method, several farmers stated.

The harvesting season will be in full swing by the latter part of next week in the county. Some will hold off with their threshing as they prefer to wait until their oats, the latest of the light grains, have been harvested.

Spraying against beetles and blight continues in potato fields, along with cultivation operations, and the crop should be good if there is enough rain.

Report Heavy Demand For Domestic Workers

Heavy Appleton demand for domestic help is indicated by the number of requests received at the office of the Wisconsin State Employment service here, according to F. R. Gehrke, manager. Although most of the younger girls who register at the office specify that they don't want to do housework, frequent calls are received for inexperienced girls with proper qualifications as well as experienced help, he said.

Work Available for Capable Farm Hands

More openings for experienced farm hands than can be filled are being received at the office of the Wisconsin State Employment service here, F. R. Gehrke, manager, said today.

Farmers are offering from $35 to $45 a month, plus board and room, for experienced, capable help. Gehrke stated, but the supply of such workmen is short of the demand. Although there may be some calls for ordinary labor during the harvest season, the farmers usually are not anxious to employ persons who don't know the difference between a binder and a hay rake.

Fresh Registration Under Way at College

Registration of freshmen for the 1937-38 college year, well under way at Lawrence college, has reached approximately the same figure as was recorded at the corresponding time last summer, according to Dr. Milton C. Towner, director of admissions. Lawrence admitted 241 freshman students last September.

The opening of Freshman week, the annual orientation period for the first years students, has been scheduled for Sept. 16. Upper classes will register Sept. 21.

Leeman Residents are Attending Bible School

Leeman — An auction was held Monday afternoon at the Carl Peterson farm. Mr. Peterson sold his stock and farm machinery and some of his household goods. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson plan to return to Milwaukee where the former will be employed. They came here from that city several years ago.

The Misses Virginia Schroeder, Sylvia Hall and Lorraine Poole, accompanied by Esther Amundson, Johanna Westgor and Dolores Westgor of Galesburg left the first of the week for a week's outing at the Crescent lake Bible school near Rhinelander.

Junior Knapp of this place and Leonard Scruton of Nichols have returned after a week's visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boardman at Glenn Ellyn, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. William McMahon, who have been guests at the Nels Nelson home the last few days, left Wednesday for Shell Lake for a short visit before returning to their home in Chicago.

The Misses Mildred and Marion Wilkinson who are employed in Appleton, spent Sunday at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilkinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Knapp were guests Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Knapp of Clintonville. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Knapp and son Carl, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Yeager and Mrs. Amelia Knapp of Bear Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tock and daughter Roslyn of Appleton were supper guests Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Ames.

Mrs. Louis Stedji, New London, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Frye, Mishasha, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Smith and daughters Jean and Maxine of Sugar Bush were visitors Sunday at the home of the former's mother, Mrs. Agnes Southard.

Farmers in the vicinity have started cutting grain, the harvesting following close onto the haying this season.

Do not waste leftover celery tops. Wash them well, cover them with three inches of water and let them simmer for 20 minutes in a covered pan. The stock may be used in soups. It also combines well with milk when in oyster stew.

Pinball Devices, Gambling Cleanup Ordered by Board

Supervisors Also Arrange For Sale of $550,000 Courthouse Bonds

Oshkosh—Concluding their one-day session Thursday afternoon the Winnebago county board finished an unusual amount of business, including providing for sale of $550,000 in courthouse building bonds, refusing to act immediately on adding two more policemen to the mounted force of Sheriff Paul Neubauer, and arrange for a ceremony, next Thursday, when the cornerstone of the new $1,000,000 courthouse will be laid.

District Attorney Lewis C. Magnusen and Sheriff Paul Neubauer were likewise authorized, with the backing of the board, in a resolution presented by Supervisor Earl Hughes, town of Neenah, to "clean up Winnebago county of pinball machines and gambling devices." The resolution stated that pinball machines are still plentiful in the county, in spite of a supreme court decision "outlawing" them.

Supervisor H. N. Howe's resolution to offer to waive interest charges on delinquent taxes, provided the principal is paid, failed to get off the table. It was tabled at the last session, and remained there this session, by a decisive vote.

Want More Time

When the resolution, signed by members of the sheriff and coroner's committee asking for addition of two more motorcycle officers was presented, C. O. Allen objected. He said he was a member of the committee, but had failed to see the resolution, and wanted to give it more thought. Supervisor George H. Macke made the same objection.

The resolution, as explained by Supervisor E. F. Dornbrook, Menasha, stated that with four officers on duty now, working in two shifts from 8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., and from 3 p. m. to 2 a. m., the department was undermanned. The starting salary of the two officers was set at $200 per month, with a raise to $225 the second year. Provision in the resolution called for $3,200 to pay the men.

"We need two more men immediately," said Mr. Dornbrook. "The situation is so serious that at night the officers travel in pairs, for fear of being 'bumped off' by some one hateful enough to do it. Supervisor or E. M. Hecker, Supervisor favored the resolution, calling attention to the state law of eight hours for police which forced Oshkosh, Neenah, Menasha, and others to add men to their force."

It was finally decided to refer the resolution back to the sheriff and coroner's committee for further study.

Bills Laid Over

Two poor relief bills against the county were held over and two disallowed, a report of T. J. Cotter and the committee revealed. Bills held over included one for $104 to St. Charles Home for Boys, and one of $174.40 to Wausaua county. Bills disallowed by the poor committee were $109.41 to the Winnebago County Relief, and $339.89 to the Outdoor Relief.

Petition of Dan M. Hildebrand asking that the per diem basis of pay for the circuit court bailiff be changed, was denied.

Before adjourning, the board authorized Chairman J. F. Shea to appoint a committee to arrange a suitable ceremony for the laying of the new courthouse cornerstone, Thursday, July 29. It also appropriated $100 for this committee.

Summer Concert Given By St. Mary's Band

Menasha—The third concert in the summer series was presented last night by St. Mary's High school band at the west end of Main street before several hundred people.

It was the second appearance this summer of the organization. The Menasha High school band presented last week's concert and was expected back from Chicago today after four days of appearance at the convention of Lions International.

The two bands are playing alternately each week in the summer series. The first two concerts were presented on the city square.

Committee Appointed To Probe Real Estate

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh—Because in the near future Winnebago county may be in the "real estate" business, a committee of three members was appointed late Thursday afternoon by J. F. Shea, chairman, to investigate procedure on county-owned residential property, obtained through tax delinquency.

Chairman Shea appointed Supervisor John J. Stommel, chairman, Clarence Fisher and R. J. Rasmussen. They will work with Earl E. Fuller, county treasurer, in determining rents, leases, and sales of these properties.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street and the telephone number is 4100. News items copy or orders for advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or may be telephoned. This number also may be called before 7 o'clock in the evening for delivery of papers missed by carriers in Neenah or Menasha.

Boy Injured; Man Denies Charge of Drunken Driving

Lester Ponschock, Appleton, Involved in Motor Accident

Neenah—A 5-year-old boy was cut severely over the eye and four other people received minor bruises when two cars sideswiped on a curve on new Highway 41 three miles north of the city about 11 o'clock last night.

The boy was Norman Westphal, who was riding with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Westphal, 202 River street, Neenah, his twin sister, Norma, and his brother, Eugene, 7, in one car.

According to police reports, the father was driving the machine toward Neenah when it was sideswiped on the curve by a car driven by Lester Ponschock, 1413 S. Madison street, Appleton, who was traveling north. Ponschock was arrested by Neenah police and spent the night in jail here. Today he was taken into custody for questioning by Sheriff Paul Neubauer of Oshkosh.

Ponschock appeared in municipal court this morning and pleaded not guilty of drunken driving. Judge Henry P. Hughes set the trial for 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The injured boy was taken to the Theda Clark hospital in Neenah. He was released after the cut over his eye had been treated. The other members of his family were bruised and bumped, but none was injured severely enough to require medical attention. Ponschock was unhurt.

Westphal's car was badly damaged, police said.

Ask Industrialists To Join League for Control of Floods

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau)
Oshkosh—Continuing his fight to enlist the support and sympathy of all groups and cities in the Fox river valley, for the "Ferguson" plan of reservoirs on the Upper Wolf river to provide a steady and reliable water flow, Mayor C. A. Wiechering today extended a special invitation to big valley paper mills and power users to join the league.

The new organization was formed July 15, at Oshkosh, and is called the Fox-Wolf Development and Conservation association with Mayor Wiechering named as chairman. It will continue and expand work formerly done by the Association for the Relief of High Water, headed by Alan Tripp, Oshkosh.

Besides the paper mill owners and power users, Mayor Wiechering has invited representatives from the conservation clubs, business organizations, labor organizations, navigation interests, farmers with riparian property, resort owners, health organizations and all others interested in the development of the Wolf River. Lake Winnebago, and the lower Fox districts.

A meeting has been called for 7:30 Monday evening, July 26, at Kaukauna for the purpose of planning steps to effectively answer the recent unfavorable report of the United States War department.

Check Dates of Birth, Says Social Security Officials

Certificates Necessary in Securing Benefits, He Points Out

Neenah—Because birth certificates will have to be produced when applying for social security benefits, B. B. Boykin, regional director of the social security board for this district, warned that birth dates should be checked now.

Mr. Boykin addressed members of the Neenah Rotary club at their luncheon meeting Thursday noon at the Valley Inn. Since July 1, the director has been located at the field office of the social security board at Fond du Lac. His district includes Fond du Lac, Winnebago, Marquette, Green Lake and Waupaca counties.

"If you were not sure of your date of birth when you filed for an account number under the social security act, check with the Bureau of Vital Statistics at Madison to make certain. When applying for benefits, it will be necessary to produce evidence of birth to collect. If the dates are not the same, the board will not pay until proof is presented," Mr. Boykin said.

Can Get Duplicate

Duplicate account numbers can be secured making application at the local post office if individuals have lost their cards. Mr. Boykins said that numbers were indispensable as a means of identification when attempting to cash checks in strange territory or in the event of an accident rendering the person helpless.

Employers are required to file a summary report by July 1 at the Fond du Lac office of the wages paid to employees during the first six months of 1937 and the amount forwarded in accordance with the Social Security act from January through June.

The 6-months report is required of all employers hiring more than one person and non-recipient of necessary blanks is not considered an adequate excuse by administrative officials. Inspectors are working throughout the state and have been making a survey of American employers to check delinquencies.

Provide Penalty

A penalty of 5 per cent is levied on taxable wages each month if reports are not filed or account numbers have not been secured. The monthly report for June must accompany the semi-annual report and the blanket statements will be due quarterly in the future, the director said.

Corresponding with the summary statement must be an individual report for each employee indicating the length of period, employee's account number, his name, taxable wages paid and date left service of company if no longer employed.

Mr. Boykin explained that benefits are now paid in a lump sum and that later as the accrued amounts grow larger, benefits will be paid in monthly installments. He also explained methods of collecting benefits and said that employers must file a report of the death of an employee within 15 days of the death. Employers must also report when the employee has reached the age of 65.

Will Give Aid

Officials in field offices will assist applicants in filing to obtain benefits. He emphasized the fact that applicants must apply for their own security number. An assessment of 1 per cent will be taken from the employee's wages until 1939 and the amount will increase every three years until 1943 when wages will be assessed 3 per cent.

Mr. Boykin also explained fields of labor not covered by social security act and told of the various activities of the board in addition to collecting wage percentages.

Cornerstone Laying at Oshkosh to be Gala Event

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh—A "gala" day was being arranged late Thursday, for the ceremony of laying the cornerstone for the new $1,000,000 courthouse at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon July 29, after J. F. Shea, Winnebago county board chairman, appointed the following committee: Howard N. Howe, chairman; A. P. Kannenberg, C. A. Korotek, James Weller and C. E. Hedke, county clerk.

Howe said most of the members wanted to make a "gala" day of the laying of the cornerstone, considering the amount of difficulties surmounted in preparing for its erection and because it might be "the only cornerstone laying in which we will participate."

It was suggested that a prominent speaker be obtained, that the high school band play several selections and that a committee call upon Mayor C. A. Wiechering to arrange for a half-holiday, and that invitations be extended to all nearby communities and county boards.

In his talk, Supervisor Howe called attention to the fine state of Winnebago county's finances permitting the floating of bonds at a low rate of interest.

"We have about the best county in the state," Howe said. "Our industry is in good shape, our agriculture soon will be, and because of the excellent state of finances of the county, we are given a 2 per cent bid on interest for our courthouse bonds." He said he had been informed more than 27 counties wishing to issue bonds had been refused bids by most bond houses.

2,000 Hens Needed for 'Little' Chicken Ranch

Berkeley, Calif.—The answer to what people mean when they plan to "get a little place and raise chickens" has been sought by University of California scientists.

They find that poultry raising should not be attempted without 2,000 hens as well as adequate land and equipment. If the owner is not encumbered by debt he may start with as few as 1,000, according to the study, prepared by Arthur Shultis.

Properly managed, a 2,000-hen chicken ranch should yield $2,000 a year, the investigations show.

High School Band Wins 4th Place at Lions Convention

Co-Chairman of Badger Committee Praises Work of Menasha Group

Menasha—The 75-piece Menasha High school band won fourth place in the contest held yesterday on Soldiers Field in Chicago in connection with the convention of Lions International, it was reported in a dispatch from that city today.

Bands from all sections of the United States competed in the playing and marching contests yesterday. The Menasha organization climaxed three days of activity by playing at the ceremonies last night in which Frank Birc of Milwaukee was inaugurated as the new president of Lions International.

Dr. Harry J. Watson of Milwaukee, a co-chairman of the Wisconsin convention committee, today issued the following statement at Chicago: "In behalf of the Lions of Wisconsin, I congratulate the citizens of Menasha upon the wonderful showing the Menasha High school band made at the 1937 convention of Lions International in Chicago."

"In addition of taking fourth place in the band contests in Soldiers Field against real competition, they have done more to advertise Wisconsin, especially the Fox River valley territory, than any organization in Wisconsin Lions history. You have every good reason to be very proud of this musical unit."

The band, its chaperones, and the delegation from the Lions club were scheduled to return from Chicago today.

Singles Tennis Tournery Opens

50 Neenah Boys Under 18 Are Entered in Competition

Neenah—With over 50 Neenah boys under 18 years of age entered, the junior boys' singles tennis tournament opened at 9 o'clock this morning at the high school tennis courts.

The tournery which opened today is considered the top net meet of the season in connection with Neenah playground work and boasts of the largest number of participants.

Last year's championship cup was won by John Schmeirein and the runnerup trophy went to Paul Albrecht. Neither of the boys is entered in the meet this year because of age limitations.

Coach Williams said today that boys who are employed during the day but who desire to compete in the tournament may arrange to play matches in the evening.

Offers to Swap Future Salary For Education

Worcester, Mass.—(AP)—Twenty-year-old Howard Stanley will give 10 per cent of his life earnings to anyone who will finance his college education.

"Every time I look for a job, a prospective employer asks: 'Are you a college graduate?'" he explains.

The son of a rug salesman, Stanley says family finances can not stand the strain of a college education and he fears that even if he could get a scholarship he couldn't earn enough to pay additional expenses.

"It's a gamble," he says, "but I'm certain my benefactor would realize on his investment. I can make good."

Interested in journalism and radio, Stanley, who limps as a result of infantile paralysis in his childhood, edited publications in the Lincoln High school in Jersey City, N. J., from which he was graduated in June, 1936, and did radio announcing for high school programs.

Stanley's high school annual listed him as the wittiest student and the member of his class "most likely to succeed."

Hollywood News And Gossip

BY ROBBIN COONS

Hollywood—One of Joan Crawford's closest friends is Kasha LeSueur. Closest to Simone Simon is a tall and pretty girl named Lee Frederick. Joan Blondell and Ruth Pursley are inseparable, at the studio and socially.

If you want to know anything about Carole Lombard, you go to Madalyn Fields, or "Fieldsie." Fieldsie will tell you if she thinks it is any of your business. And Dot Ponedel probably knows more about Marlene Dietrich than anybody in Hollywood, except Marlene.

Kasha and Lee and Ruth and Fieldsie and Dot—all of them prove you don't have to be famous to be counted a friend of the famous.

Kasha is Joan Crawford's stand-in, and her ex-sister-in-law. When Hal crashed, Kasha's friendship with Joan survived and flourished. And Kasha's little girl is Joan's favorite child.

Lee Frederick is a script clerk. She met Simone when the actress went to work on "Under Two Flags." She didn't finish the picture, but out of it came a lasting friendship with Lee. The story is that it started with a memorable fight. Simone was temperamental, and Lee didn't like temperamental. Lee told Simone off. Now Simone tells Lee everything.

Ruth Pursley is Joan Blondell's hairdresser. They met when Joan first came to Hollywood. When Joan married Dick Powell, it was Ruth who was maid of honor. That rather surprised Hollywood, accustomed to screen stars selecting other screen stars to share the spotlight on such occasions. But it didn't surprise Ruth, nor Joan. They're regular people.

Ruth once worked on Marlene Dietrich, but quit. Dot Ponedel, the make-up girl, got along with Marlene better. Dot made up Dietrich for her first Hollywood test, and has been with her ever since. If she's assigned to other stars while Dietrich is making a picture, Dot gets up earlier to finish the others and be free for Marlene. Stays on the set with her, and even gives her evenings to prepare Marlene for special evening events. Marlene does things like this: selects gifts personally when Dot is furnishing a house. Sends her own doctor when Dot is ill. Presents elaborate gifts on the slightest provocation. And like her for herself, which some people think is nicer than gifts.

Fieldsie and Carole Lombard were Sennett bathing beauties together. When Carole forged ahead in films the first thing she did was put Fieldsie under long-term verbal contract as secretary. Fieldsie lives at Carole's house, takes care of her income and interests, and makes Lombard worry about her because she works so much. Carole won't let her diet (Fieldsie's a little on the portly side) but that's the only item on which they disagree.

Fieldsie acts as much kick out of Carole's success as she used to get out of her own. Like the other girls, she's happy to share the confidences if not the fame of her employer.

Racine Man Elected as

Spanish War Vets' Head

Milwaukee —(U)—Max W. Heck, Racine, a former state senator, was elected department commander of the annual state encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans Thursday.

Delegates to the organization's state encampment also elected L. S. Dietz, Beloit, present junior vice commander, senior vice commander, and J. J. Devitt, Milwaukee, adjutant general.

Executive Clemency

Granted 2 Prisoners

Madison —(U)—Governor LaFollette granted two prisoners executive clemency Thursday by shortening their terms, bringing them closer to parole.

Leroy Henze was sentenced from Waukesha Dec. 13, 1933, to 11 terms of 5 to 10 years for embezzlement. The sentence was commuted to one term of 3 to 8 years.

A one to five year term imposed on Claude H. Gray in Price county April 12, 1935, for adultery was commuted to one to three years.

BUY LOTS FROM U. S.

Washington —(U)—Uncle Sam has disposed of some of his "watered" stock to a Chinaman.

President Roosevelt has signed a bill authorizing the state department to sell its right in a lot near the American consulate at Sin Lu Tou Jetty, Kulsang, Amoy, China, to one Jim H. Goan, for $300. The United States held a perpetual lease on the lot, which is under water half the time.

KAUKAUNA — Ves Kappell cracked out two singles that brought in the tying and winning runs as Kaukauna's Northern State league ball team came from behind to defeat Clintonville 4-3 in an extra inning exhibition contest under the lights at the Kaukauna ball park last night.

With Clintonville leading 3 to 0 in the eighth inning Vils singled, Fowler walked and Rader singled both runners in with a sharp drive to center field. With the tying run on second Kappell got his first hit of the day to bring Rader home with the big run.

In the last of the tenth Eggert got on first on an error on Palmer. Rader sacrificed to send him to second. He had advanced to third on Zelinski's single when Kappell singled to right center to bring in the winning tally and end the game.

The game was a listless affair until the eighth, with Kaukauna connecting for only four hits in the first seven frames, three of them by Joey Vils, who had a big day at the plate with four hits in five trips up. A sudden rally by the third baseline fans worked on Pitcher Huffman, and he permitted three hits and walked one to see Kaukauna tie the score.

Clintonville scored two runs in the first inning on two errors and one hit to take a lead they kept until the eighth. Huffman's home run in the eighth ended the Four Wheel Drivers' scoring.

Ab Brokup, Morosha twirler, toed the rubber for Kaukauna, and though he had a little difficulty in the early innings he settled down to strike out eight batters.

The Brewers will play a return engagement under the lights at the FWD park Thursday, July 29. The box score:

Shiocton — Greenview Merchants will come here Sunday afternoon to defend their share of the lead post in the Outagamie County Baseball league. Shiocton lost two games this season, but has been winning hard this week to get in shape for the league leaders.

Black Creek, the other team tied for the top, will travel to Dale. Dale has a strong club and will be out to stop the Crocker's quest for undisputed possession of first place in the standings. Hortonville will travel to the Greenview Grange. Last week the Hortonville squad took a 9 to 0 lacing from Black Creek and the boys will be out for vengeance Sunday.

New London Faces Tough Fight as Waupaca Comes For Playoff Series Game

NEW LONDON—The New London Knapsack Brews are in for a tough assignment tonight against Waupaca in the first of the playoff games for the first round championship in the Wolf Valley league if the Waupaca aggregation takes advantage of Manager Polaski's generosity.

Hard up for a pitcher because the rules of the league prohibit the use of Stan Polebitzki, Stevens Point hurler, and the best eligible man, Jimmy Hoffman, is signed with Clintonville, representatives of the Waupaca squad yesterday sought permission from the Brews to use Polebitzki tonight. And Polaski granted it.

Polebitzki has twice turned back the New London sluggers. If he hurls tonight and succeeds again, Manawa will be in a ticklish position. After the tenacity of the Brews it will be difficult for Manawa to protest and if they don't the first half crown probably will be conceded to Waupaca.

Polaski hopes to beat the odds with big Pete Westphal on the mound for the home team tonight. Three times Pete has pitched this year and each time he brought the squad through a difficult contest. He tossed when the New London club handed Clintonville its first defeat in the first round and then pitched again when they ousted Clintonville from the league running 6 to 2. He also beat Weyauwega in an exhibition night game after the same team had defeated the Brews in daylight.

HURLS FOR BREWS

When New London Brews open the first round playoff in the Wolf River Valley league Friday night against Waupaca under the New London lights, Pete Westphal, above, probably will draw the hurling assignment. Pete started base-ball school 15 years old with the Legion Juniors. He burlied three seasons and then graduated to the New London Merchants in the County league. In 1932 he went to the Brews and pitched the club to three straight titles. This year he had been playing in the outfield because of his hitting ability. (Post-Crescent Photo.)

Retirement Plans Just Bunk, Says Wilmer Allison

Brookline, Mass. —(AP)— Wilmer Allison, No. 1 tennis star of Austin, Tex., who says he's exceeded his fondest expectations in reaching the Longwood Bowl tournament's semi-final round, scheduled today, declares any retirement plans for him "are all the bunk."

The former national champion, who has won the bowl twice and today finds Gardner Mulloy, of Miami, Fla., one of the two remaining barriers to permanent retirement of the trophy, predicted he would "be playing tournament tennis just as long as I'm able to swing a racket."

While Allison engages Mulloy in one semi-final, young Gilbert Hunt, of Washington, D. C., whom Allison picks to win the tournament, will engage Bob Harman, of Oakland, Calif., in the other.

Did Hosses Catch Up With Rajah, Broadway Asks?

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
NEW YORK—Along with Rogers Hornsby, the Browns fired Coach Charlie O'Leary clubhouse boy . . . Why the clubhouse boy? . . . Broadway was wondering today if the hosses have caught up with the Rajah again . . . Anyway, his passing leaves more than one big league manager squirming on the anxious bench . . . You can write your own ticket, but of the five guys we have in mind, two are in the American league and three in the National . . . Remember that when you make your winter baseball book.

This corner's nomination for the champion long-distance golfer goes to Ralph Anderson Kennedy of New York . . . In 27 years of golfing, he has played 1,615 courses all over the world . . . The guy has been in the rough in 41 American states, in eight provinces of Canada and in seven other countries . . . He's still going strong and hopes to hit every country in the world before he's through.

Old time readers will recall Al Ludvig as a promising lightweight back in 1907 . . . Well, today he is better known as Dr. Jerome V. Kaufman, a Broadway dentist and a favorite of the sports and theatrical professions . . . Rip Collins.

It was homesickness—nothing else—that caused Bobby Matlock, Los Angeles shortstop to jump the club and rush to see his mother in St. Louis . . . Minor league ball players no longer live like normal humans . . . Night baseball has 'em getting up at noon, breakfasting at 1 o'clock eating a light snack at 6, dinner at midnight and to bed at 3 or 4 in the morning . . . So far nothing has occurred to make us change our opinion that the Hambletonian will be a two hoss race between Twilight Song and Schnapps . .

E. Kobals started at the mound for Kobals but Cramer hurled the fifth and sixth innings.  Black Creek at Dale.
 Hortonville at Greenville Grange.

THE ambitious Greenville Merchants will go in quest of their third straight victory in the second round of the Outagamie County league Sunday afternoon when they meet the Shiocton club at Shiocton. The latter, despite the fact it tied for first honors in the first round, hasn't won a game in the second round.

The Merchants will toss Cliff Burton against the Shiocton team with his brother Cy, bat star in last Sunday's game, doing the catching. Shiocton will depend on Smokey Lathrop to get it back into winning ways.

The next most important game in the circuit will show Black Creek at Dale. The Creekers have started fast in the second round with two wins and don't intend to flop as they did in the first round after a nice start. Dale, on the other hand, will be trying to get over the .500 mark in standings. It tied for the first round title, won the first game of the second round and dropped the second game.

Dale will pitch Lefty Kaufman while the Creekers are expected to use Mier.

In the other game Hortonville will resume play after dropping two games because its players were working in the cannery. The Villers will show against the Grange at the Grange diamond. Buchman will toss for Hortonville and Kuzenski for the Grange.

Milwaukee Splurges With 3-Run Blast to Defeat Minneapolis

Chicago (AP)—Milwaukee and Columbus are finding the going rough in their efforts to take a clear field in the American association pennant scramble.

The two clubs remained virtually tied today after being defeated last night. Columbus bowed to Indianapolis 4 to 1, with Lloyd Johnson winning his seventh game and allowing six hits.

Milwaukee's Champion Brewers looked like champions as they shoved over three runs in the ninth to come from behind and lick Minneapolis 8 to 6. Al Milnar went the distance for the victors, holding the heavy-hitting Kels to nine hits as the Brewers were making 13 off Wagner and Grabowski. The Brewer's thrill-packed finish came after the Millers apparently had clinched matters with a four-run blast in the seventh.

St. Paul defeated Kansas City 12 to 8. Art Herring held the Blues to eight hits.

In a fourth night contest Louisville defeated Toledo, 7 to 6, in 14 innings.

Coolerators to Tangle With Donlinger Beers

Lutz Coolerators of the American City league will meet the Donlinger Beers at the Washington school diamond at 6:15 this evening. S. Filz or Dean will be on the mound for the Beers with F. Filz behind the plate. Barney Meyer will hurl for the Lutz squad with either Bogenchutz or Hein behind the log.

Frankie Parker Replaces Bitsy Grant in Singles for Davis Cup

LONDON (AP)—The United States benched Bryan M. Bitsy Grant, of Atlanta, today and nominated Frankie Parker of Milwaukee, for the opening singles match of the challenge round for the Davis Tennis cup.

Parker will play Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin at Wimbledon at 2:30 p. m. (7:30 a. m. C. S. T.) tomorrow. The second singles match will follow immediately with Don Budge, of Oakland, Calif., opposed to Charles E. Hare.

For the doubles match to be played at 3 p. m. Monday, the United States nominated Budge and Gene Mako, of Los Angeles.

The British doubles selections were C. R. D. Tuckey and F. H. D. Wicks. Both teams were instructed to change their doubles selections up until an hour before match time.

The pairings will be reversed for the final singles matches Tuesday with Parker and Hare in the lead-off position.

The dope heavily favors the United States to win the cup for the first time since it was lost to France at Germantown, Pa., in 1927. No one was particularly surprised at the shakeup in the American team after Grant's defeats at the hands of Henkel and Barco.

Grant himself was so miserable after his losses that he declared he would not play in the challenge round even if Walter L. Pate, the non-playing American captain, nominated him in the draw today.

Grant bitterly accused himself of "turning yellow" and said he "quit" against Henkel. Parker showed excellent form in the All-England championships, fighting his way to the semi-finals, where he lost to Budge in a four-set match.

As the lineup stands, Great Britain is expected to win but one match, as Austin is granted an edge over Parker though he's far from a cinch.

Milwaukee (AP)—Two Milwaukeeans and a west coast player moved into series finals in the men's division of the Badger State Open Tennis tournament today.

The other semi-finalists were Don Leavens, Milwaukee, who defeated Don Milne, Chicago, 6-0, 6-4, and Frank Kovacs, Berkeley, Calif., who won a 6-1, 9-7 victory over Fay Suchy, Milwaukee.

Harrison O'Neill of Milwaukee and Tom Stokes of New Orleans entered the men's quarter-finals. O'Neill defeating Walter Pearson, Muskogee, Okla., 11-9, 7-5, and Stokes beating John Mullaney, Milwaukee, 6-2, 6-0.

Pearson lost an overtime junior quarter-final battle to O'Neill 4-6, 6-1, 6-2.

Alice Alger, Milwaukee, won a women's quarterfinal match from Ann Kaupie, Racine, 6-3, 6-3.

S. rifle team; Fred Johansen of Joliet, Ill., former state titlist; and Marshall Grosskopf of Marion, Wis., the country's fifth ranking star, were among the luminaries entered.

The Zeppelin arms delegation from Akron, O., was headed by the nation's high ranking woman rifle shot, Minnie McCoy.

Young Rockne Enters Father's Alma Mater

South Bend, Ind. (AP)—The campus of Notre Dame university will greet another Knute Rockne this fall.

Knute, Jr., son of the former Irish football coach, enrolled yesterday for the September term. Although weighing only 150 pounds and standing 5 feet 6 inches tall, young Rockne will become a candidate for a quarterback position on the freshman team.

He starred as quarterback and captained the Miami, Fla., Military academy football team last fall.

Cubs and Giants Clash in Season's "Crucial" Series

Pennant Winner Expected To Emerge From 3-Game Party in New York

Associated Press Sports Writer R. JOHN Q. FAN packed politics, war and his credit-ors away with the winter underwear today and settled down to the more important business of watching the Chicago and the New Yorks go to work on each other in the baseball season's most "crucial" series.

The Cubs and Giants, tangling in a close National league race, opened a three-game party at the Polo Grounds, from which the pennant-winner is likely to stagger, if the rest of the loop keeps on falling apart at its current rate.

The Yankees and White Sox, running one-two in the American league, (although the one is some distance in front of the two), wheeled their big guns into action at Chicago, and started a four-game fust that will decide whether the funder's row is to make another joke of the junior circuit pennant parade.

Cubs Lose Heartbreaker The stage was set yesterday for the start of these important together when the Giants topped the Reds 6-5 and the Cubs dropped a 7-4 heartbreaker to the Phillies.

The net result of which left the Giants only a game away from the pace-sets. Cubs' Vally (Clutch) Berger came through with a ninth inning homer to beat the Reds, and the Phils put on a seven-run spurge in the eighth to beat the Cubs.

At the same time, while the White Sox were idle, the Yankees lost to the St. Louis Browns, 13-4. This surprise package ended the six-game winning streak of the swatsquad, snapped Joe DiMaggio's 22-game consecutive hitting run, and left the world champions a mere seven games in front of the American league pack.

Use Hubbell Today Most interesting, of course, attaches to the Cubs-Giants war on today's front. The New Yorkers will throw King Carl Hubbell against Curt Davis, who in past years has been a particular Giant killer. It is the first game of the series. The Giants, with a crippled infield, can't hope for much after Hubbell gets through, however—depending, of course, on whether even he is successful against the Davis only recently returned from the hospital list.

Those two outfits now appear the only clubs in the race. The St. Louis Cardinals, who seem to be out on their feet, are trying desperately to stay in the first division, and the Pittsburgh Pirates are not enjoying any great success. The Cards found Boston's brilliant pitching staff too much yesterday for the fourth straight game and dropped a 2-0 decision to Danny MacFayden. The pirates, headed by Red Lucas' four-hit flinging, had little difficulty walloping the Brooklyn Dodgers, 10-1.

Detroit's Tigers battered the Boston Red Sox 17-4, featuring four homers in their attack. Hal Trosky clouted two homers as the Indians whipped the Athletics 5-1. The White Sox and Senators were idle.

GRAPHIC GOLE

BY BEST BALL

SNEAD'S SMOOTH STROKE
 Sam Snead has only been a travelling pro for a short time, as professional experience is judged, but he has any number of admirers standing on the sidelines applauding his shots. Not a few of this number are fellow pros, who consider him a second Jones. Snead came up from the West Virginia Hills with a swing as supple as a willow sapling, which strangely enough was evolved in much the same way the game itself was supposed to have originated, hitting smooth pebbles with a shepherd's crook. It gave Snead an accurate eye, a long sweeping blow which gathers force as it descends and sweeps the ball with astounding length and roll. Jimmy Thomson may get more actual carry on his drives but Snead is never far behind and even outdistanced the Shawnee pro in the P.G.A. driving contest. Apparently hitting such small objects as pebbles has sharpened Snead's eyes to the point where impact with the ball offers little chance for error. His putts are precisely gauged and executed, the clubhead floating into the ball and dispatching it straight along the intended path.

KAUKAUNA—The second place Neenah Merchants and Menasha Eagles will clash Sunday at Neenah in the feature game of the Northern Valley league. There is no love lost when the Twin City rivals clash in any sporting event and Sunday's battle is expected to draw the biggest crowd of the season.

Menasha is still smarting from the double defeat Neenah handed them in their last meeting when the Eagles were within a game of the league lead. Neenah is now lodged in second place, a half game behind the 8500 Cab nine of Oshkosh and will attempt to hold their position in the standings by defeating the Eagles and possibly take the league lead if Oshkosh is set back by Appleton Sunday.

Orville Schultz will get the Neenah pitching assignment against Menasha Sunday with Lefty Jerome in reserve. The veteran Handler will do the catching for the Merchants. Menasha will start either "Buster" Brown or Beach against their bitter rivals with Smarzynski receiving.

The league leading Oshkosh 8500 Cab team takes on the sawdust Giesen Taverns on the sawdust field of Oshkosh. Appleton has split so far with Oshkosh this season and will be trying hard for a win to get out of the league cellar and at the same time knock the Cubs out of the league lead that they have held all season. Klobier or Alwin will take the mound for Oshkosh with Dosh behind the plate. Appleton will pitch Murphy with De Young catching.

Red Squirrels at Work

Red squirrels or "chickarees" like mushrooms. They eat great numbers of them, and seem never to make a mistake between those which are poisonous and those which are not.

explains one of the names of this kind of squirrel.

Another name is "pine squirrel."

It likes the seeds it finds in the cones of pine and spruce trees. One squirrel may gather several bushels of cones in a good season.

The bloodthirsty animals called weasels sometimes chase red squirrels from tree to tree. The squirrels are better at running and jumping than any weasel except the pine marten, but the weasels keep on their trail by smelling. After being chased for a time, a squirrel may hide among the leaves or in a hollow in the tree. Often it is "frozen with fear" when a weasel comes close, and in that case it is killed in short order.

On the other hand, the red squirrel is bolder in some ways than the gray squirrel. Red squirrels have been known to invade a woods and drive away all the gray squirrels.

Here is an account of how red squirrels in Alaska gather cones of spruce trees:

"In the fall, before the snow became deep, spruce cones were gathered in great numbers. They were buried in the ground, placed in tree branches or piled on the ground."

"Piles of cones a foot or two high were made around the bottom of a tree containing a squirrel's nest. Near Tanana, the first cutting and piling of the cones was noticed on Sept. 6th, and the work was still in progress on Oct. 13."

"The cones may be cut singly, but often they are cut in natural clusters of several cones. A red squirrel was watched while he was cutting cones from the top of a high white spruce. The cones were

Two young chickarees.

It is hard for human beings to tell the difference between poison mushrooms, or toadstools, and those which are good to eat. Many persons have died because they ate the wrong kind.

If people can be fooled, why aren't the red squirrels? The answer to that question is not certainly known. Perhaps the squirrel finds a difference in the smell. Thanks to their sharp sense of smell, the animals can do other things which human beings cannot do.

If you frighten a red squirrel, it may run into a tree, and give you an angry scolding, calling, "Chickaree, chickaree, chickaree!" That

New London—A definitely superior Miller High Life team took the Edisons 10 to 2 in an industrial league game under the lights last night for their third straight win in the second half. The game was played a day early last night because of the New London-Waupaca play-off in the Wolf Valley league this evening.

The Edisons are still two games behind because of three games which have been postponed. They have yet to meet the Hamiltons and Plywoods in the second half. Monday evening Bordens will test the Millers High Life again.

The High Life walked into an easy victory last night when Gottschalk put 10 men on bases with hits and seven solid hits brought six of the walks safely across the plate. The two runs in the first inning were initiated by walks. A single and two walks netted two runs in the fourth. In the fifth inning Ted Ebert's triple brought in two runners, one a gift, and in the seventh, McIlraith's 2-bagger tripled two more walkers across. Ebert scored on Tip Krohn's double in the fifth.

The beer barons also played a tight fielding game and allowed only two of the eight hits off Ullrich to materialize. Four times men were left on third base. Ullrich walked three and only one of those got as far as third base.

Maguliska was the big gun for the wood workers scoring two singles and the only two runs. Christiansen cracked a double in the sixth inning to advance a runner to third base but the sprint died swiftly when Stacy, Miller first baseman, worked a neat double play unassisted. Meeting Sennett's pop fly halfway to the home plate he continued his dash to catch Smith halfway home from third base.

New London Team Is Trowned in Hard-ball Game, 9 to 7

New London—The picked junior boys team of the Washington High school playground league dropped a hardball game to a Waupaca team 9 to 7 in a game at the local diamond yesterday afternoon. It was the first hardball game of the New London team.

Heavy scoring was done in the last inning of the 5-inning ball game when both teams counted five runs. Each scored one in the second and third but Waupaca had the winning margin with runs also in the first and fourth. The New London boys gathered five of their six hits in the last inning while the Waupaca team gathered eight bunched hits throughout the contest.

Glen Beckert started pitching for the local boys but after three innings had given three hits and four walks for three runs. James Bodoh took the mound for a short time in the fourth inning but Ralph Holliday finished though he banded out four walks and three hits also in little more than one inning.

'Roaming in Hawaii' Is New Travel Book Added at New London Library

New London—"Roaming in Hawaii" with Harry A. Frank, outstanding world travel figure, is one of the new books added to the shelves at the New London Public library. The wanderings of this keen observer in Hawaii are told in a human and interesting manner.

A sort of supplement to this book is "How to Travel Without Being Rich" by William M. Strong, in which the author shows what can be done during a 2-week vacation and where one can go on $50, $100 or $200. Intimate hints on travel manners and practical advice are included in the little book.

Foremost among the new novels is "The Forge" by T. S. Stripling to complete the famous trilogy which includes "The Store," a Pulitzer prize novel, and "Unfinished Cathedral." "The Forge" is the first in the series and the other two already are in circulation by the library. Another trilogy of sea adventure by Charles Hordhoff and James Norman Hall is completed with the addition of "Pitcairn Island" to "Mutiny on the Bounty" and "Men Against the Sea."

New light fiction include "The Dragon Murder Case" a Philo Vance mystery story by S. S. Van Dine, and "Trail Dust" a western novel by Clarence E. Mulford. A junior fiction is "Windy Island" by Theodore Acland Harper, a story of life and adventure in New Zealand.

New London—The New London delegates to the district Rotary convention at Iron Mountain, Mich., failed to reach their objective yesterday when the car in which they were motoring to the meet left the road on Highway 141 just north of Pound, Wis., and turned over twice about 9:30 in the morning. None of the occupants were injured seriously.

Dr. Frank Murphy, president of the New London Rotary club who was driving a new car, R. J. McDevener, vice president, and Ormond W. Capener, secretary-treasurer, escaped with body bruises and wrenched muscles. The men returned to New London at once with the car and forsook the Rotary district meeting.

Kimberly-Clark Union Plans to Draft By-Laws

Kimberly—Harold G. Fird, president of the Kimberly Independent union told a large group of members at the village hall Wednesday evening that a constitutional committee has been named to attend a meeting to consider the constitution and by-laws of the independent union, under central organization. Each Kimberly-Clark corporation will become a member. The first meeting is expected to be held about Aug. 2 at Neenah and the Kimberly representatives are Mr. Fird and Otto Hannemann.

The speaker declared that after the by-laws have been drafted and approved the union will approach at Neenah and ask to be recognized as bargaining agency for Kimberly-Clark employees. This course would preserve advantages the corporation employees have at present time and perpetuate the type of relationship which employees have with the management except that the union will be financially independent. The by-laws would govern all local units of each plant of the Kimberly-Clark corporation.

The speaker explained that the corporation has six plants and the union has a majority of the employees in each mill. In the Kimberly mill over 85 per cent are union members and reports from the Badger Globe, Lake View, Atlas, Niagara, Wis., and Niagara Falls, N. Y., indicate a majority.

The constitutional meeting will be attended by 12 representatives, two from each mill, Mr. Fird said. At the first meeting it is planned to elect temporary officers of the central committee.

Some persons do not like red squirrels, saying the animals rob birds' nests. The statement is true, at least for a great number of the squirrels.

On the other hand, red squirrels have performed fine service. By burying cones, and forgetting some of them, they have caused trees to spring up. Many fine forests of pine, spruce and hemlock trees are believed to have been spread by the "planting" of the red squirrel.

WHAT A WRECK CONSTIPATION MAKES

Constipation can dull your whole life. Headaches, poor complexions — tired, lifeless days are often the results. Also, many serious diseases.

Get rid of common constipation now with a ready-to-eat cereal — Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

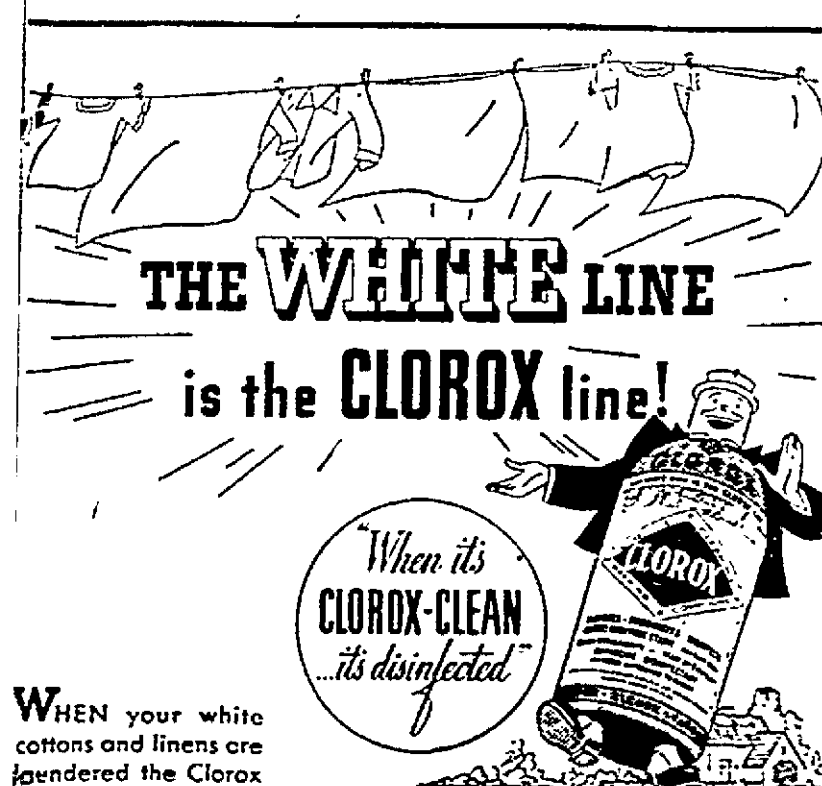

ALL-BRAN brings you the two things your system needs to act naturally: "bulk" and vitamin B to help tone the intestines.

Within the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs more than twice its weight in water — forms a soft mass, and gently clears the intestines of wastes. It acts naturally.

Pills and drugs seldom cure constipation. You just keep on increasing the dose and switching from one laxative to another.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day, three times daily if needed. Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or use in recipes. Sold by all grocers — made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Disposal Plant Formally Opened To Public Today

Treatment of Sewage to be Explained to Visitors Over Weekend

The city sewage disposal plant was formally opened this morning for public inspection which will continue through Sunday. Operation of the $700,000 plant will be explained to visitors today, Saturday and Sunday by plant attendants and booklets explaining its purpose are being distributed.

Sewage enters the plant through a 48-inch sewer at the south end of the screen and grit chamber building and passes through a bar screen which is mechanically cleaned by a rake. The screenings are washed into a grinder and pulverized or shredded and then discharged back into the sewage. Grit and other heavy inorganic substance is removed from the sewage in the grit chamber.

An overflow and by-pass arrangement at the outlet of the grit chamber permits the by-passing of all or part of the flow to the river.

Chemical Building

Three chemical drying machines with storage hoppers are located directly over the sewage conduit in the chemical building. Chemicals are added only when a higher degree of treatment is required because of low river flow.

During periods that coagulants are added to the sewage, the flow is passed through the flocculation tank. It is here that the floc is formed by thoroughly mixing the chemicals with the sewage. This is accomplished in part by the admittance of compressed air over about a third of the bottom area of the tank and by mechanical mixing with two sets of paddle wheels.

The sewage next is passed into the settling tanks where about 90 per cent of all matters capable of settling will be deposited on the tank bottom. This substance is referred to as raw sludge. Two double plunger type sludge pumps located in the basement of the administration building withdraw the sludge from the settling tanks, as well as the scum drawn off the top, and pump it to the digestion tanks.

Clarified sewage discharged from the settling tanks flows to the river. The principal function of the structures located on the lower plant level is to remove the solids from the sewage while the principal function of the structures atop the hill is to dispose of the solids in an inoffensive manner.

Raw sludge entering the digestion tanks usually contains 90 to 95 per cent water by weight. The digestion of sludge is a biochemical process of complex nature. Gases generated during digestion are piped to the sludge control building where they are used in the gas-fired boiler for heating the digestion tank.

The stable inoffensive residue deposited in the bottom of the digestion tank is withdrawn to the sludge drying beds or to the sludge storage tanks. During winter when the drying beds cannot be used, the storage tanks are used. The dried sludge may be disposed of as earth fill or utilized as a fertilizer, depending upon its composition, economic value and local demand.

MURDER ON THE BLUFF

quite convincingly if that fool Higgins had held his tongue. Norman could not see that he might better be dead than back in that place. Therefore, I showed him. As for Judith, she was in the way. So was Higgins, much as I regret that fact. So are you, James. Therefore—

But she never finished. I made the most perfect football charge of my career. We went down in a heap together, simultaneously with the deafening report of the revolver. Long before I managed to get to my feet I knew that Martha Farrington was dead.

The Skipper Talks

I stood at the living-room window, gazing out across the cluttered sweep of lawn and drive toward the gut where a boat from the mainland should be appearing. Breakfast, such as we could manage to choke down, was over. William and Annie were clearing it away.

Between Michael and Gay on the davenport, sat the Skipper. She should have been in bed, but we could do nothing with her. A very short time would bring relief, and with it a doctor. There was a weird sense of unreality in the room, a sense of awakening from a bad nightmare, an illusion intensified by the Skipper's quiet voice.

"Your grandfather, Mike, was a pretty unlucky person. He was only a kid when he married Martha Waterman. Pretty little thing I've been told—good family. They had about five years of happiness and—then—with two kids on their hands—it developed that the wife was insane. They didn't put people in asylums those days if they could possibly help it. He kept her here for three years. And then in one of these winter storms, she got away from her nurse and went over the bluff. She was killed.

"He got over it in time. There were two kids, both seeming—er—normal and healthy. Eventually he married my mother, whom he had known all his life. I was born about a year later, and the three of us grew up together. For a long time the other kids didn't even know that my mother wasn't theirs. But servants talk and there was gossip in the village. They found out and they brooded about it. When Norman was about 18 and Martha about 20, he began to show unmistakable signs of insanity. Whether he had actually inherited it or brought it on by brooding and fear, we never knew. Anyway, it was there.

"I was about 13 at the time and I didn't understand much about it, but I knew that father was in a terrible state. Remembering what happened to the mother, he clapped the youngster into a private nursing home. I think that when father died, he was still expecting Norman to be cured. He never was. He came home once for a short time, but we couldn't manage him. We sent him back and he never came out again until a few months ago.

"Martha had always been crazy about the boy. When they sent him away, they had a time with her, I can tell you. She accused father of trying to kill him, among other things. Insisted that he had also murdered her mother. But the doctors assured father that she was merely neurotic—not in the least insane. Father always felt that Martha's attitude had a great deal to do with my mother's death. But that was absurd. My mother died of pneumonia shortly after Norm was taken ill, that finished father. He drew into his shell and left us to our own devices.

"I'm not trying to excuse myself now. I just want Mike in particular to understand how things were. You see, the servants had adored my mother. Consequently, they took to pampering me. And Martha, for such a proper soul, got a big kick out of my escapades.

"And then—" The Skipper's voice faltered but immediately picked up again. "Then something happened. There was a youngster I used to play with—Jack Blinshop. I used to golf with him, gun with him, boat with him. We'd always been cronies—"

Again the Skipper paused.
